

HOW ABOUT OUR 50TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION?

By ROCH BRADSHAW

SANTA ANA will be 50 years old May 20. Who cares? Last summer Councilman Ernest Layton called attention to the approach of the city's fiftieth birthday and suggested it would be a fitting occasion for a real celebration. The idea was taken up at once by individuals and civic groups.

Suggestions poured in. The idea of a birthday party for the city appealed to the imagination. There was even talk of making this an anniversary year, with appropriate events scattered along the way, all with the fiftieth anniversary as the motif.

The chamber of commerce offered to take charge of the affair, plan it and shoulder responsibility for putting it across.

BUT SOMETHING happened. Gradually the talk died out. For many months nothing has been heard about the city's approaching birthday. The chief difficulty is that it costs money to put over a real celebration, and Santa Ana wouldn't want a shoddy birthday party. So far, no one has advanced a suggestion as to where the money would come from.

There will be only one golden anniversary for Santa Ana. When this one is gone, it will be too late to celebrate. Last summer everyone thought it would be a wonderful chance to draw favorable attention to this city. The same opportunity exists today. The chamber of commerce is still ready to take the lead and do the work.

MAY 20, however, is not very far away. But if Santa Ana cares anything about the fact that it's going to have a fiftieth birthday, there is still time to get excited again and do something about it.

The city of Santa Ana was incorporated 50 years ago, in 1886. It was founded in 1869 by the late W. H. Spurgeon. His son, W. H. Spurgeon, Jr., has just retired as president of the chamber of commerce.

At the time of incorporation the community's population was about 2000. The first officers of the city were Mr. Spurgeon, chairman of the board of trustees, J. T. Harlin, J. R. Porter, John Avast and A. Snyder. Samuel Wilson was city clerk, C. J. Mosbaugh was treasurer and Charles H. Peters, marshal. Mr. Peters was a brother of George Peters, of this city. J. W. Turner was city attorney, C. W. Humphreys was recorder, and Adam Foster was fire chief.

IT WASN'T long after incorporation that the land boom of the eighties hit Santa Ana, and the city grew by leaps and bounds for several years. The boom broke in 1889. Then along came the grapevine disease which wiped out the vineyards. Citrus culture took the place of the grapes. Before long, things were humming again. Years went by until Santa Ana became the modern city of today.

It's going to have a fiftieth birthday soon.

More Townsend Resignations Expected; Quiz Near

CLEMENTS TO BARE HUGE FINANCES

Co-Founder of Pension Movement Strikes at Leader's Politics

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP) Robert E. Clements, who has resigned as national secretary of the Townsend plan, said today he would appear tomorrow before the house investigating committee with a five-ton truck full of records.

"I am more anxious than they are to have this investigation," he said. "We have nothing to hide."

The secretary, who said his resignation was based solely on his opposition to political activities of other plan leaders, added: "I have been responsible for financing the Townsend plan. I have collected around $350,000 and I have accounted for every postage stamp."

He said the organization up to Jan. 1 had spent $750,000 and still had about $100,000 on hand. "We've built the biggest organization in the country and it couldn't be duplicated at 10 times the cost," Clements said.

His retirement led to predictions of a further crackup in the organization's high command. Members of a house committee, who summoned Clements to appear tomorrow as the first witness in a sweeping inquiry into the vast pension organization, said they expected "other resignations" soon.

Clements said he had differed from Townsend on "fundamental policies," including organization, methods of getting congress to enact the plan, and Townsend's political maneuvering. Townsend has been a vocal voicing threats of a third party movement and expressing disfavor for such a movement. Clements expressed belief the Townsend plan should be kept non-political.

Clements said he would continue (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Morehead Going East for Armories

An Associated Press report from Sacramento today said that Adj. Gen. Harry H. Morehead, California National Guard, will leave tonight for Washington to attend a conference on the $2,500,000 allocation to California for building 28 armories.

Santa Ana, Anaheim and Orange have had armory projects which were expected to be carried out under a federal plan for financing. The matter has been quiet locally for some time because of uncertainty as to the government's plans for the projects. No definite word of approval of the project or the financing program has been received here.

GRUNION RUN DUE TONIGHT

Provided Storm Stays Away

Grunion "hunters," individuals who chase small fish and catch them barchanded, hope that the wind and high waves which battered the county coastline yesterday will subside by this evening, because plans of the small fish are predicted for tonight and tomorrow, weather permitting.

Center of Storm

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, above, remained the lone nationally-known director of the Townsend old-age revolving pension movement in the U. S. today following the resignation yesterday of R. E. Clements, co-founder of the plan. Clements said he resigned because of Dr. Townsend's "political maneuvering." With the house inquiry into financing of the plan scheduled to open tomorrow, spokesmen today said they expected more resignations.

BOOST FLOOD FUND QUOTA

Red Cross Asks Local Chapter to Raise $1800 for East

Fifty per cent increase in the Santa Ana Red Cross chapter quota of $1200 for relief of eastern flood victims was announced today by Dr. John Wehrly, sr., chapter head, following a telegram from Cary T. Grayson, national Red Cross leader. Of the sum originally set, $572.09 had been raised by noon today.

To speed up the drive, a benefit entertainment is being planned by Dr. Wehrly. A total of $1800 is to be secured from Santa Ana, Newport, Costa Mesa, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove, Seal Beach, Capistrano and Laguna. Contributions are received at banks in these towns and at Dr. Wehrly's office.

In the northern end of the county, Anaheim today had raised $259.65 of its quota of $750. Orange had raised $296 of its quota of $450, and Fullerton had raised $253.90 of its quota of $900.

Stressing the growing need of flood refugees as disease breaks out among the homeless, Admiral Grayson's message said, in part: "Since original flood relief fund quotas assigned, flooded area and number victims has been doubled. Latest reports of our relief directors now in field place total number men, women and children looking to Red Cross for immediate relief at 357,000, with every likelihood this figure will increase as flood crests continue. To meet clear and essential Red Cross obligations to these suffering fellow citizens, now imperative we ask you make every possible effort secure relief contributions exceeding your original chapter quota by at least 50 per cent."

200 REFUGEES LOSE FIGHT TO TROOPS

Citizens Riot Against Health Committee; New Flood Rises

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., March 25. (AP)—National guardsmen drove a crowd of more than 200 rioters from East Vandergrift today after they broke through guard lines and tried to prevent the refugees health committee from condemning household furnishings as unsanitary.

Dr. D. E. Snyder, Westmoreland county medical officer, had authorized S. J. Russell, chairman of the citizens' flood committee here to appoint the health committee.

He asked the committee to inspect property in the still-restricted East Vandergrift area, worst hit by last week's flood and condemn furniture and possessions which might be disease foci.

Irate residents, incensed over destruction of their property, rushed the small detachment of guardsmen guarding the area. Refinements came in from other parts of the town and turned them back. Members of the health committee immediately turned in their badges.

CINCINNATI, March 25.—Heavy rains at the headwaters of Ohio River tributaries caused a fresh rise in the upper valley today that threatened to boost the flood crest at Cincinnati to around 60 feet.

The death list in the flood area stood today at 199.

The river reached a crest of 69.6 feet and receded to 59.5 here today when Meteorologist W. C. Devereaux, gathering new information, revised his prediction, adding the new rise probably would not be great enough to cause extensive damage in the lower valley where thousands of acres of lowland were flooded.

A rise in the Pittsburgh district past the flood stage of 25 feet promised to send the river there to a 32-foot crest. With Tributaries running bank full or overflowing the new rise would place the stage at 63 feet or somewhat higher at Ashland, Ky., and 60 feet at Portsmouth, two feet below the sandbags at the top of a flood wall protecting the city.

He predicted a stage of 59 to 60 feet would hold at Cincinnati for nearly five days and said the new crest here might exceed slightly the higher figure.

The Mahoning river, which overflowed its banks at Warren, Youngstown and Niles, started falling, leaving the "flats" district with water in the streets and in some homes.

The Italian ambassador said "it is with the best of his power prevented from being among the powers who today are signing the naval treaty."

His nation, Grandi declared, has been "compelled to maintain unprejudiced its freedom in the field of naval constructions." He gave as the fascist reasons for non-participation the conclusion of agreements of mutual naval assistance among Great Britain and other powers and the "unprecedented economic war" being waged against Italy.

May Sign Later

The treaty, however, is left open for later signature by both Italy and Japan.

The chief difference between the new treaty and the existing treaties of 1922 and 1930 is that now there will be no limitation on the sizes of fleets but only on the sizes of ships and guns.

Attempts to limit the size of fleets "quantitatively" were given up when the Japanese left the conference.

Bruno's Wife May Kill Self, Son

NEW YORK, March 25. (AP)—Friends of Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, wife of the condemned Lindbergh baby slayer, expressed fear today that she might take her life in the event her husband is executed.

Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey had no comment on published reports that she had written him threatening to kill herself and her son if her husband dies.

Bruno SIGNS NEW PLEA FOR HEARING

TRENTON, N. J., March 25. (AP)—Bruno Hauptmann signed an application today for a second court of appeals hearing. The first appeal for mercy was rejected by the court on Jan. 11, but a reprieve by Gov. Harold G. Hoffman saved him from execution six days later.

At state prison, preparations went forward for the dual execution next Tuesday night of Hauptmann, convicted Lindbergh baby killer, and Charles Zied, Philadelphia gangster, who slew a Camden detective in a holdup.

Gov. Harold G. Hoffman said he would do nothing about answering the invitation of Dr. John F. (Jafie) Condon, Lindbergh ransom negotiator, to meet him in his Bronx home until he can confer tomorrow with Attorney General David T. Wilentz.

Mrs. Anna Hauptmann will be allowed two or three more visits to her husband this week and one on Monday. She said she has not told Bruno the date of his execution, nor has Col. Mark O. Kimberling, state prison warden, informed him.

Strictest police guards will be maintained near the jail to prevent any disturbances next Tuesday

ITALY FLAYS NEW PACT

Naval Treaty Signed By U. S., England And France Today

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

LONDON, March 25.—A new international naval treaty was signed today by delegates of the United States, Great Britain and France as the delegate of Italy, remaining aloof, attacked British naval activities in the Mediterranean.

Ambassador Dino Grandi of Italy declared: "A potential naval pact exists in the Mediterranean."

The new pact removes restrictions on the size of navies, but the United States and Great Britain, possessors of the world's mightiest fleets, agreed separately to maintain their navies at the same level.

Norman H. Davis, on behalf of the United States was the first diplomat to sign the treaty.

Japan was not represented by delegates at today's ceremony but by two observers since the Japanese delegation walked out of the conference after its demands for equality were refused.

Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London, attended the session as the fascist representative but did not sign the treaty because of Italian protests against existing East African war sanctions.

The Italian ambassador said "it is with the best of his power prevented from being among the powers who today are signing the naval treaty."

His nation, Grandi declared, has been "compelled to maintain unprejudiced its freedom in the field of naval constructions." He gave as the fascist reasons for non-participation the conclusion of agreements of mutual naval assistance among Great Britain and other powers and the "unprecedented economic war" being waged against Italy.

RAIN BRINGS WIND, COLD WEATHER

Saddleback Blanketed by Snow; Beach Hit by Damaging Gale

Heavy rains, frost and high winds which did considerable damage along the coastline accompanied a late winter storm which visited Orange county yesterday, leaving behind a mantle of snow on Saddleback mountain for the first time this year.

County agriculturists profited by the half-inch rain, but were watching their thermometers to-day, with a forecast of fair but colder weather, with probable frosts, tonight.

Heavy at Beach

The storm struck heavily at Huntington Beach, where a fishing barge was blown almost to shore from its position two and one-half miles at sea and the municipal pier was damaged by angry waves and the high wind.

At Newport Beach a fishing barge was reported to have dragged anchor from a point opposite the Newport pier almost to the jagged rocks of the harbor jetties.

Orange received the heaviest rainfall, with exactly one-half inch gauged there. Santa Ana received .36 inches, bringing the season's total to 7.71 inches, as compared to 16.58 inches at the same time last year. San Juan Capistrano residents also reported a heavy rainfall, with 45 inches recorded at the Carl Hankey ranch.

Damage in North

Considerable damage from frost was reported in the Modesto area, where fruit, grape and truck crops suffered. Many orchardists in the Pomona valley were forced to light orchard heaters due to the cold wave which accompanied the wind.

At Redondo Beach, a wind which at times reached a velocity of 50 miles per hour, grounded a fishing barge, after it had been damaged from striking old pier pilings.

Huntington Beach residents reported a heavy hailstorm between 7:30 and 8 o'clock last night, but no damage was reported from the freak storm.

Raymer to Quit C. C. Secretaryship

George Raymer, veteran secretary of the Associated chambers of commerce of Orange county, will ask to be relieved of his duties in that organization, he said today.

The Associated body will meet at the Green Cat cafe Tuesday night to elect officers. In a letter announcing the meeting, Mr. Raymer said today it would be impossible for him to serve another term.

Inasmuch as he will be away from Santa Ana on business on a number of occasions during the coming year, Mr. Raymer said it would be impossible for him to give the continuous service to the position which it requires. Business trips to Canada, Nevada and Arizona will take him away from Santa Ana next year, Mr. Raymer said. In view of this, he said he believes it would be wise for someone else to be chosen to carry on the work.

Mr. Raymer has been secretary of the organization since 1924, with the exception of four terms.

DEBATE FATE OF LAMSON

Prosecution to Decide Whether to Try Him A Fourth Time

SAN JOSE, March 25. (AP)—David A. Lamson's fate passed today from the hands of a dis-agreeing jury to prosecutors who debated whether to try him a fourth time on wife murder charges which already have cost the state over $60,000.

District Attorney Fred Thomas said he would talk the case over with his staff before deciding whether to ask another trial for the former Stanford University Press official.

"We will make that decision when the case comes up again," said Thomas, who yesterday saw a jury discharged for the second time, standing 9-3 for conviction.

Thirty of the 36 jurors who in the three years heard the state's charge that Lamson bludgeoned pretty Allene Thorpe Lamson to death have voted to convict him.

Lamson paled when Jury Foreman Milton Raymond reported the standing to Judge J. J. Trabucco and added there was no hope of agreement after 26 hours of actual deliberation and 10 ballots.

Next Hearing April 3

Three of the five women jurors, who received the case Friday noon, held out for acquittal. One of the trio, Mrs. Emma Green, was under doctor's care today, on the verge of a nervous breakdown from the hours of wrangling.

Prosecution and defense agreed upon April 3 as the date for the next court appearance.

Lamson would be released if the state decides not to prosecute again.

ANAHEIM BANS TURF AGENCY

Council Kills Former Law

Openly conducting betting on horse races in Orange county seemed doomed today as the Anaheim city council moved to make the operation of the Continental Turf Agency in that city a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment.

The council last night passed an ordinance directed at the agency, which had been operating up to a few days ago in that city, making it unlawful for a person outside a race track enclosure to accept or place wagers on horse races in California, or in out-of-state tracks.

Prior to last night's move, the Anaheim council had passed its second reading an ordinance licens-

State Reported Ready To Purchase Land Near Fairview

Santa Ana was stirred today by rumors of resumed activity on the part of the state toward purchase of property for a state prison farm between Fairview and Costa Mesa. While the state prison board is merely studying the proposition, it was rumored today that a representative of Governor Merriam was preparing to take active steps in the matter. The board of supervisors and chamber of commerce yesterday protested against the prison scheme.

At the same time local persons interested in the civic aspects of the matter were wondering if the state, or someone acting for it, will enter a bid tomorrow at the scheduled foreclosure sale of the 900-acre Santa Ana Gardens property, between here and Talbert. This foreclosure, brought about by bondholders, is set for 2 p. m. tomorrow at the courthouse.

Options on Land

It is known that the state has secured options on property amounting to 1400 or 1500 acres, between Fairview and Costa Mesa, part of which is in the Banning estate, which is handled by the Security First National Bank of Los Angeles. Opposition to the idea last week was thought to have put a damper on the project, but leaders today were wondering if the scheme actually has been abandoned.

The proposed deal was aired in a news story published last Wednesday by The Journal.

The chamber of commerce resolution, adopted at a special meeting of the board of directors, and wired to Lieut. Gov. George J. Hatfield, chairman of the legislative committee for the Southern California prison, follows:

Chamber's Resolution

"Having carefully sounded out the opinion of the business interests and people at large of Santa Ana and vicinity, we are actively and definitely against the location of a state prison and (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

MRS. LONGCOPE EXONERATED

SANTA BARBARA, March 25. (AP)—Justice of the Peace Ernest Wagner today exonerated Mrs. Dorothea Longcope on charges of shooting and wounding her son, Jesse Livermore Jr., last Thanksgiving.

Wagner after testimony at Mrs. Longcope's preliminary hearing, ordered a complaint charging assault with intent to kill dismissed.

Young Livermore, son and namesake of Jesse Livermore, sr., well known Wall Street operator, testified that he assumed the blame for the shooting which followed an argument over his drinking. For several months the 16-year-old boy hovered between life and death.

A. T. AND T. PROBE BARES HUGE LOANS TO MOVIE COMPANIES

MANEUVERING OF FINANCES REVEALED

Company's Subsidiaries Finance Films, Quiz Testimony Indicates

WASHINGTON, March 25. (AP) Testimony detailing intricate transactions through which American Telephone and Telegraph company subsidiaries passed out millions of dollars in loans to motion picture interests was given today to the communications commission.

Samuel Meisels, assistant accountant of the FCC investigation of A. T. & T. testified regarding advances to the Fox Theaters corporation and other film interests.

Later, Samuel Becker, special FCC counsel planned a study of A. T. & T. activities in financing the production of "Moonlight and Pretzels" and other motion pictures.

$15,000,000 Loan

In his testimony, Meisels traced a $15,000,000 loan by Electrical Research Products, Inc., to Fox Theaters corporation in 1929. ERPI, he said, borrowed the money from Western Electric company, of which it was a subsidiary. On the same day, the A. T. & T. advanced $12,000,000 to Western Electric.

A. T. & T. records, Meisels testified, contained "no information" as to why the loan was not made directly by Western Electric or by the telephone company, rather than through ERPI.

Meisels later told of a $9,775,000 loan by ERPI to Halsey-Stuart company, New York finance house, and a $5,000,000 ERPI loan to General Theaters Equipment, Inc.

Repays Own Loan

Becker said the money advanced in these two loans went to pay off the original advance by ERPI to Fox Theaters.

"ERPI furnished $15,000,000 to repay itself the $15,000,000 of Fox," Becker asked, "and substitute new debtors for the old one, at the same time reducing the original indebtedness by $225,000?"

Meisels answered affirmatively.

The witness also testified regarding the purchase of $8,500,000 of Film Securities corporation notes by WECCO corporation, a subsidiary of Western Electric.

Funds for the purchase, Meisels said, were supplied by Western Electric. Of the total purchase, he added, WECCO sold $500,000 of the notes to Graybar Electric company, another member of the A. T. & T. corporate family.

Meisels frequently quoted from A. T. & T. files which he said were designated "personal and confidential."

LAGUNA HOTEL PAPERS FILED

Laguna's new million-dollar hotel was one step nearer realization today as articles of incorporation for the Laguna-Rivera hotel company were filed with County Clerk Joe Backs.

The articles call for issuing 100,000 shares of common stock, at a par value of $10 per share. Purpose of the corporation will be to build a hotel and conduct a business, as well as to engage in real estate and stock and bond transactions.

The board of directors, to consist of five men, will be headed by Alfred Violette, lately of Michigan, now of Laguna Beach. Other members will be John Lucas, C. C. Drake, Adolph Beignell and Milburn Violette, all of Laguna Beach.

The board intends, it was said, to construct a hotel modeled along the lines of those on the Italian Riviera, embodying the most modern construction ideas and incorporating the most luxurious accommodations.

RECKLESS DRIVER IS FINED $250

Raymond J. Heim, jr., 1015 North Olive street, who on March 14 created a minor catastrophe when he drove his car through a store at Fourth and Spurgeon streets, on Monday pleaded guilty in city court to reckless driving and was given the maximum fine of $250.

In fining young Heim, City Judge J. G. Mitchell accepted payment of $50 with the understanding that the defendant is to pay $15 a month until the balance of the fine is paid. The defendant was originally booked by police on charges of drunk driving, a felony when persons involved in the accident are injured. The drunk driving charge was reduced to reckless driving Monday.

MORE ABOUT TOWNSEND

To give "his all" in unofficial capacity to the drive for a 2 per cent tax on all transactions to finance pensions up to $200 a month for all over 60.

Chairman Bell (D., Mo.) of the house investigating committee said Clements would be questioned tomorrow on how the Townsend organization collects and spends its money "and who receives any of it."

"In the last few weeks," Bell added, "the feelings of the leadership have been more and more tense because the investigators did their work quietly and did not announce any policies or what evidence had been found to be used."

Besides being subpoenaed to appear personally, Clements was told to bring a list of every Townsend club, chapters, income tax statements, copies of "all telegrams of every kind or nature as may be required by the committee," bank books, expenditure records, and safety deposit box contracts for Dr. Townsend, Clements or the organization.

When asked whether his resignation was prompted by Dr. Townsend's statement concerning Senator Borah, Clements shot out:

"Which statement about Borah? He has made three, you know."

"The one Sunday night?"

"No."

"How about the third party statements then?"

"Could you tell me right now whether Dr. Townsend is for or against a third party?" Clements asked.

Clements, appealing to all Townsend club members to "stand solid with your national organization," expressed the conviction the movement would emerge victorious from the house investigation.

TUSTIN COUPLE OBSERVE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Twenty years in Santa Ana and 25 years of married life were celebrated Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. John F. Dohmer, Tustin. At the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Garth Olsen and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thiery, daughters and sons-in-law of the Dohmers, friends surprised the couple with a court whist party.

A silver wedding gift was presented to the Dohmers, who were married in Jacksonville, Mich., a quarter of a century ago. Mr. Dohmer has been with the Santa Ana Cabinet shop during their residence here.

A. F. Lader and Mrs. Dohmer made high scores at whist. Others in the party were Roy Gundrun and Arlene Ruth Olson, Tustin; Messrs. and Mesdames A. F. Lader, H. H. Adams, Louis Crandall, and Russell Gundrun, Orange; and Lorraine Crandall, Carol Lee Gundrun and Margaret Louise Thiery.

SHIRLEY IS CONVICTED

Jurors Out Three Hours In Morals Trial of Santa Ana Man

Two sentences of from one to 50 years in the state prison at San Quentin faced D. C. Shirley of Santa Ana today, following his conviction last night in superior court on two charges of statutory offenses against minor girls.

A jury of six women and six men deliberated three hours and 20 minutes in arriving at the verdict of guilty to both counts. The case was given to the jury by Superior Judge James L. Allen at 5:05 p. m. Foreman G. A. Starr reported the verdict at 8:25 p. m.

Shirley immediately made an oral application for a new trial, through Defense Attorney N. D. Meyer. Shirley faced the charges as a result of criminal association with two 15-year-old girls placed in the state-certified home run by Mrs. Shirley at 2827 North Main street as wards of the state.

Police officials from Huntington Beach testified yesterday that Shirley had been arrested in that city in 1927 as a "Peeping Tom," had pleaded guilty to the charges and was fined $25.

Attempts of Shirley, who had maintained throughout the trial that he was being "framed" by his wife, to force Mrs. Shirley to testify were balked by Judge Allen, who ruled that she was within her rights in refusing to testify.

Judgment will be pronounced Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time Shirley's plea for a new trial will be heard.

Blazes Destroy Houses in County

Two Mexican families were left homeless today, when fire, which broke out in a dwelling near the Holly Sugar company factory, Huntington Beach, spread to a second home and endangered the entire settlement. The blaze, which originated in a wood stove in the dwelling, had spread throughout the building and ignited an adjoining residence before the state-county fire truck from Midway City could arrive at the scene. Both houses were destroyed, resulting in approximately $2000 damage.

A similar fire at Los Alamitos this morning destroyed a small residence there. Both blazes were reported to state firemen at 10 a. m. and it was necessary to send the state-county truck from Orange to the scene of the Los Alamitos fire. This blaze also originated from fire in a stove.

CALUMPT HISTORY TOLD; FOLLIES OF '98 GIVEN

"Follies of '98" were enacted by seven women of the Ida Saxon McKinley auxiliary, U. S. W. V., for Calumit camp and auxiliary in K. of C. hall last night.

Dancing and cards followed the pot-luck dinner for 75 persons, many of them visitors from Long Beach, Pomona and Los Angeles. George Foy directed the WPA dance orchestra.

Origin of the name "Calumit" for the Santa Ana camp was told. The name of a Philippine city where battles took place in 1899, "Calumit" was suggested for the original camp by Harry S. Tubbs, its first commander. (The present camp chartered in 1922, succeeds one chartered in 1907.)

Five members of the first camp belong now. They are A. P. Dresser, M. C. Cooper, S. H. Finley, Oscar Kurtz and Sidney Cornack. Dinner committeemen were Messrs. and Mesdames A. H. Hall, Gary M. Field, Joseph J. Fitzpatrick, Forrest Gay and Henry Helmer.

51 CITED FOR BAD LIGHTS IN COUNTY

"Glaring headlights, in my estimation, are the greatest menace to safe driving confronting the motoring public today. Glaring, blinding lights are even more dangerous than cars with only one light showing."

This statement was made Tuesday by Capt. H. C. Meehan, Orange county branch of the California Highway Patrol, whose officers Monday night issued 51 citations to motorists who were driving cars with faulty lights. The arrests were made between 6:30 p. m. and 8 p. m., on 101 highway, near Orange.

A large majority of the citations issued by the officers Monday night were for glaring headlights. The remainder were for one-eyed cars, tail lights that were not working, or for lights that were out of adjustment.

JEROME TO TALK TO CHAMBERS

"Government by remote control" will be on the pillory here next Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the Associated chambers of commerce. Supervisor W. C. Jerome, who has made a careful study of recent governmental trends, will be the main speaker.

Recently at a meeting of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, Mr. Jerome spoke on the same subject, showing how he believes functions of local government are being centralized in Washington.

The affair will take place at the Green Cafe, starting with a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

The Santa Ana chamber, which recently made a move toward rejoining the associated body, will be in charge of the program. E. E. Sharkey is program chairman.

A group of Mexican musicians will stroll about the dining room entertaining during the evening.

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the Tuesday session, over which George Kellogg of Yorba Linda, president, will preside.

Mr. Jerome, in his talk, also is expected to deal with the subject of taxation and relief, with the problems of which he is closely in touch.

ABANDON LAND FOR HIGHWAY

The petition of J. E. Lloyd, Anaheim, to abandon about a quarter of a mile of property adjacent to the Manchester boulevard line, Anaheim, for use of the county in constructing the new highway at that point was accepted Tuesday by the Orange county board of supervisors.

Mr. Lloyd was the owner of rights-of-way previously deeded to the county for construction work on the highway. A change of specifications made the abandonment proceedings concluded Tuesday necessary.

RULE TRAINING COMPULSORY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25. (AP)—Compulsory military training at Berkeley and Los Angeles divisions of the University of California remained in force today by virtue of a board of regents' order.

The governing body announced its decision yesterday after a closed session which followed a debate between student representatives.

A recent undergraduate poll disclosed a 2½ to 1 majority in favor of elective, rather than compulsory training.

EDUCATOR RAPS VOTE SYSTEM

Governments having the greatest proportion of elected officials are the most corrupt, Dr. H. Arthur Steiner, University of California at Los Angeles professor, declared Monday night in the second of a series of adult education talks in Willard auditorium.

Discussing social changes in political science, Dr. Steiner said the present American problem was reconciling efficient government with popular control. Americans are becoming less critical of facts, and are more easily swayed by propaganda, he averred.

Political scientists are abandoning the belief that all men make equally good officials, and favor establishment of a stable body of trained public servants, the speaker said.

Difficulty of deciding economic questions on a legal basis will lead to changes in the American judicial system, which is not actually given power by the constitution to declare laws unconstitutional, Dr. Steiner declared.

W. W. Wieman, principal of the Lathrop Evening High school, presided.

The Sidewalk Spectator:

To the Journal: I see where the annual spring fashion showing is to be held tomorrow night. Always something to take the joy out of life for us men, and put joy into life for the women.

But I've got it all fixed at my house. Told the wife we'd go to Whittier, have dinner and spend the evening with her mother. That ought to make it safer, because women are generally speaking—generally speaking—and usually generally speaking about new hats, dresses, shoes or hosiery. Well, if we are out of town, and wife doesn't see the new style showings, maybe the appeal won't be quite so strong.

So, good luck to the rest of you men!

Yours for figuring things out,

GLENN L. THORNE,

The Sidewalk Spectator.

P. S. Later, no good. Didn't hide the papers with the announcements. Wife saw them and has postponed the proposed Whittier trip until next week. Instead, we take in the fashion showing, and that means a new Easter outfit!

DEATH CLAIMS COMEDIAN

MEDFORD, Mass., March 25. (AP)—Paul McCullough, 52, of Brookline, radio, screen and stage comedian, and a member of the widely known team of Clark and McCullough, died at Lawrence Memorial hospital today.

Hospital officials said he died of wounds suffered Monday when he slashed himself with a razor in a Medford barber shop.

McCullough, with a friend, had entered the shop for a shave. Patrolman John Mills said. The comedian grabbed a razor, the officer added, and before he could be subdued had slashed his throat, wrist and arm. He was en route at the time from a hospital, where he had been treated for a nervous breakdown, to his home.

Bobby Clark, McCullough's partner, and McCullough were born in Springfield, O., went on the stage together 30 years ago, and had teamed together since. They costarred in the oldest comedy teams in point of service in the country.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

WE HAVE often said that Judge D. J. Dodge, Costa Mesa's famous traffic arbiter, is tough on speeders. Yesterday we found out why.

Judge Dodge has his own—"And Sudden Death" right in his office, and if speeders aren't affected by what they're shown there, when appearing before the court, they aren't human. At least, that's what we think.

Each year Judge Dodge keeps a scrapbook of accidents, fatal and otherwise, in Orange county. One starts at the front of the book and, as page after page is turned, huge black numerals show the increase of deaths from Jan. 1 onward.

Every so often a page completely filled with turn up. There, the judge will have outlined "week-end" with a red pencil. It shows the large number of people hurt and killed in Saturday and Sunday traffic. "Three killed, 22 injured in Sunday traffic." "Children Maimed in Crash." "Three Drunk Drivers Held." "Pedestrian Killed." That's the way the headlines in the judge's book read.

When you appear before the judge, he'll show you this terrible tale of traffic. He'll point out the horrible consequences of fast and reckless driving. Then, if you've been going over certain prescribed speeds, he'll send you to jail. There aren't any "ifs" or "buts" in Judge Dodge's code. Whoever you are, you go right to the jailhouse and stay there for five or ten days. No arguing.

The judge told the story of one man, who, if our memory is correct, was doing nearly 70 on the highway. He called on the judge and asked what the fine would be. The judge politely informed him that perhaps he'd better bring his toothbrush.

With that, the speeder appeared for a change of venue, we were told, requesting that he be allowed to appear before the judge in his own township. The change was granted, but the speeder appeared before Judge Morrison in Santa Ana. "Ten days. Next case."

Not a bad way of handling the situation, was it?

Right now they're watching traffic violators very closely in Costa Mesa. They're unfortunately situated there, having a long business district, fronting on the state highway. It's so close to the beach that drivers automatically speed up, to get their first view of the ocean.

It's a nice, long straight stretch of highway, and lots of people roar through the community, endangering pedestrians and other drivers.

So, state traffic officers are on duty most of the time, and they're very strict. Each day Judge Dodge is faced by speeders, by drivers who fail to make bouvard stops, by drivers who have allowed their vision to be obscured through more than the lawful number of passengers in the front seat, by double-parkers and by violators of about every other known motor vehicle law.

Incidentally, not so long ago, the judge was stern with the driver who had five passengers in the front seat of his machine.

Our one bit of advice is, if you're bound to speed, don't do it anywhere near Costa Mesa.

Our argument about killing off Orange county seals has borne fruit. First, we attacked Don White, down at Laguna Beach. Don objects to our reference to "smelly seals."

"Seals, bathing as often as they do, couldn't smell very badly while they're alive," Don claims. "But, if Huntington Beachers start killing 'em in wholesale lots, then the stench will be terrific. Just ask Coronado, Laguna's official dead seal buryer." He concludes his epistle with the recommendation that we get in touch with Samuel, czar of Laguna's seal colony, and advise him to migrate, with his flock, to the south pole.

And then Newport's famous "Lyn" Scotsman" immediately gets in touch with us. The seal situation has been well covered, he says, with the intimation that, as far as he's concerned, they're already dead.

However, the yellowtail situation isn't nearly so good, he continues, pointing out that, a couple of weeks ago anglers snagged hundreds of the battlers out by Horseshoe kelp, just outside the county fishing preserve. Then the purse seiners, says he, annihilated the whole bunch. The county preserve is the first step in controlling these seiners, and the next should be outlawing of purse nets of any kind, he says, and rightly.

Occasionally the seiners catch a whole flock—pardon, school—of baby barracuda, which they can't sell, they're informed. They dump the small fish overboard, dead, and the water is literally covered with the floating bodies.

The Scotsman also takes a whack at the reduction ships, which travel outside of federal jurisdiction and reduce sardines and other fish into meal and oil and then trot right back to port and sell their product, which, he remarks, shouldn't be allowed.

H. B. PIER DAMAGED AS STORM LASHES COUNTY COASTLINE

WINDS DRIVE BARGE TWO MILES

Attendant is Unhurt as Craft Nears Shore; Newport Escapes

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Roaring winds and crashing ground swells were responsible for several hundred dollars' damage in this area last night, as a freak storm, which included a heavy hailstorm, struck at the coastline, damaging the city pier and blowing a fishing barge almost upon the sands of the beach here.

"Bill's Barge," a fishing boat, anchored two and one-half miles offshore, was blown nearly to shore by the strong wind. John Leslie, 40, attendant, remained with the barge throughout the storm and suffered no injuries from the wild night, it was reported.

The huge boat narrowly missed colliding with the end of the municipal pier, and late today was anchored a short distance offshore, with the owner, C. K. Morrison, preparing to move the craft back to its anchorage. The "Lucky Strike," passenger boat connected with the barge, arrived early this morning to protect the barge from damage by grounding.

The boat landing at the end of the pier was badly damaged, as huge ground swells and the strong wind lashed the coastline. Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars by Street Supt. Henry Wirth.

A section of a gambling boat, burned six years ago near Long Beach, and which has been ashore near Sunset Beach for some time, crashed into pilings of the local pier during the night, but did no damage. Apparently a large section of flooring from the derelict, nearly 100 feet long and 25 feet wide, the huge, battering-ram washed ashore before damaging the pier. It will be removed by city employees today, it was announced.

A barge anchored off Newport Beach was also reported to have dragged anchor, traveling almost to the harbor "tillies. No other damage was reported.

AUER TALKS ON VIOLINS OVER KVOE

In his third broadcast of the new series of four, Leland Aufer, instructor in band and orchestra at Santa Ana Junior college and director of the Santa Ana Municipal band, will discuss the great violinists and violin music from the time of the first virtuoso Corbelli, in 1685, to Ysaye and Kreisler of the present day, with special reference to Paganini of the early part of the nineteenth century, considered by the greatest technical master of the violin the world has ever known.

This will be another in the adult education series of broadcasts and will be made from KVOE this evening at 5:30 o'clock. The broadcast will be followed immediately with a brief presentation of violin music, featuring the interpretations of famous violinists of today.

Trio Will Sing
Lee, Jeanne and Deanne, the "Golden Trio," will sing their way into the hearts of listeners tonight at 6 o'clock with their third program of favorite songs. Included will be "Old-Fashioned Garden," "Going Back to Texas," "Take Me Back to My Boots and Saddle," "Moonlight on the Colorado," and "Texas Plains." Deanne will sing "Dear Evelina" and "Arizona, Here I Come," while Lee will sing her first solo number, "Blue Eyes."

A brand new composition by Ray Raymon, "Swing Stylized," entitled "Swing" will be broadcast for the first time from KVOE tonight at 7:15 o'clock when this pianist-composer and his "Rhythm Vendors Three" offers a program of request numbers.

A feature of tonight's program will be the presentation of a guest artist, Lois Miller, who will sing "Please Believe Me," accompanied by Raymon. Members of the trio include Martin Bowman, Bonnie Wilson and Joe Wilson.

Male Chorus on Air
The popular song, "It's Been So Long," will be harmonized as only the Sterling male chorus of right voices can harmonize it on tonight's "Musical Moments" program at 7 o'clock, with a love song as their opening number, entitled "Sundown in Peaceful Valley."

Orchestral tunes will include "Love and a Dime," and the violin section will feature Drigo's "Serenade." This will be one of the regular "Musical Moments" presentation programmed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday on KVOE at the same hour.

The music of Ozzie Nelson's orchestra will be heard exclusively in tonight's feature program at 6:45 o'clock as this increasingly popular dance orchestra maestro leads his band in "I Found a Dream," "I Don't Know Your Name," "Cling to Me" and "Gotta Go to Work Again."

Radio Roundup

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

By HOMER CANFIELD

"STRANGE AS IT SEEMS," John Hix' air-version of his famous cartoon series, rounds the corner and starts its second year in radio tonight. (KHJ, 7:45).

The startling disclosures for this anniversary program the 120th broadcast, are:

Mussolini was once so ardent an advocate of peace that he went to jail for resisting a campaign of aggression by Italy in foreign countries!

"Washington, Crossing the Delaware" is one of the classic paintings of all time, but it is really a picture of a boatload of Germans crossing the Rhine!

There is a certain town in which all the women have worn mourning for 500 years!

AS A GESTURE OF appreciation, John Charles Thomas, your writer's favorite radio baritone, will devote his entire program to the songs of Oley Speaks (KFI, 7).

"On the Road to Mandalay" and "Sylvia" are favorites throughout the world, and Thomas believes that due praise would be the composer far better now, than when he ceased to be a contemporary.

The following Oley Speaks compositions have been programmed: "Morning," "To You," "On the Road to Mandalay," "My Homeland," "The Lane to Ballymore," "Sylvia," "When the Boys Come Home" and "The Prayer Perfect."

IF PARKYAKARKUS hadn't been persuaded to do a comedy bit on the Yankee Network four years ago, he'd still be a successful retail advertising director in Boston, instead of Eddie Cantor's Greek dialect stooge. As Harry Einstein, he was outstanding in the business field, but he made such a hit on the radio that he eventually abandoned his own career and devoted his full time to radio. Cantor did not adopt Bobby Breer. It's only a gag for the act. Carol Lee, KFWB songstress, is under doctor's orders. She obeys the rule of no dancing, no exercise, no walking, no smoking and an all-vegetable diet. Ozzie Nelson is a full-fledged lawyer. He graduated from the New Jersey Law School. Willie and Eugene Howard will do a revue for NBC with the starting date set for April 15. However, whether or not it'll be heard in the west isn't at this writing known.

George Hamilton's band replaces Shep Fields for Veloz and Yolanda. Bette Davis will be on the Lux radio theater next Monday in "Bough and Pulpit." Victor McLaglen repeats "The Informer" for "Hollywood Hotel" dealers Friday.

Despite many invitations, Ed Wynn has never appeared professionally abroad. Fred Allen never gets very worked up about birthdays. Maybe it's because he once received a present he didn't like much. The day he was 14, he went to work.

ACREE PLEADS GUILTY HERE

A. E. Acree, indicted Dec. 4 by the Orange county grand jury on nine counts of grand theft in connection with the sale of worthless stocks in this county, yesterday withdrew his plea of not guilty to all nine counts before Superior Judge H. G. Ames, changing it to one of guilty to two counts. Seven other counts were withdrawn on motion of District Attorney W. F. Menton.

Acree was arrested last December after he was alleged to have victimized a number of Santa Anans by selling or exchanging their stock in the American National corporation, an insurance company, which was worthless.

Judge Ames set next Friday at 10 a. m. as the time for pronouncement of judgment. Acree is wanted by Los Angeles police on similar charges.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK PLANNED

Steps toward the annual observance of public school week, an event fostered by the Masonic fraternity of California, were taken this week when a joint committee representing the three Masonic lodges of Santa Ana met with City Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Henderson and a group of school principals at Willard cafeteria.

Friday evening, April 24, was decided upon as the date for an entertainment to be held at Willard auditorium by students of Santa Ana schools. Every effort will be made, according to an announcement issued today by the combined committee on arrangements, to have an interesting, fast-moving program and one that will exemplify many lines of instruction given in the local schools. In past years these programs have always drawn capacity audiences to Willard auditorium.

The numbers on the program each school will present are not fully decided upon, each principal now having this in hand with an announcement to be made within a few days. Music, art, drama, literature, physical education and home economics all will be represented.

Meeting with Mr. Henderson from different schools were D. K. Hammond, director of Santa Ana Junior college; Lynn Crawford, principal of Polytechnic High school; and H. G. Nelson and Lyle Mitchell, principals of Julia Lathrop and Willard Junior high schools. Representing the Masonic lodges are Dr. H. J. Howard Parley Smith and Fred H. Pope, masters of Santa Ana, Silver Cord and Jubilee lodges, together with Cy Yelding, A. E. Collins, Grev Johnson, Osborne Holmes, J. G. Sutherland, Louis Braasch and Robert Speed. Mr. Speed is chairman of the combined committee.

SERMON TONIGHT AT FOURSQUARE TO BE ILLUSTRATED
"The Mark of the Beast," when it will be given and who will receive it, will be told tonight at the Foursquare Gospel church. Evangelist Alice Wilson Parham will illustrate her lecture with colored slides based on the Book of Revelations.

Tomorrow night "The Battle of Armageddon" will be the subject. "Russia's Trail of Blood," showing scenes photographed by a minister while abroad, will be told Friday evening. Saturday night, 50 slides on healing will be shown.

Final lecture of the prophetic series will be given Sunday evening by Mrs. Parham. The slides are being circulated throughout the United States, to be shown in churches.

MOTORIST ALONE IS TO BLAME FOR CRASHES

RESULTS OF NEW SURVEY REVEALED

Neither Car Nor State System of Highways Is Responsible

SACRAMENTO, March 25 (AP).—The motorist and not the car drives the system of highways over which he travels in California—was blamed in the findings of two general committees recently organized by Ray Ingels, director of motor vehicles, to study the reasons for traffic accidents.

The report attributed the major highway casualty factors to four fundamental reasons: bad driving, high night speeds, intoxicated drivers and pace differential between trucks and automobiles.

T. H. Dennis, state maintenance engineer, commenting on the results of the investigation, said:

Engineer's Report

"There is valid evidence to show that in California motor vehicle accidents vary directly with the volume of traffic, and this despite progressive improvement of roads. There is also a considerable volume of evidence to show that only a small percentage of the accidents are due either to the physical condition of the roads or to the mechanical condition of the vehicles."

"The responsibility for a predominant majority of the cases rests upon the drivers of the vehicles."

Probe by Committee

The inquiry was carried out by an administrative committee and an advisory group—the former consisting of representatives of the state board of education, attorney general's office, League of Municipalities, state industrial accident commission, department of public works and motor vehicles, while the latter's membership was chosen from local agencies.

Here are some of the conclusions:

Of the total accidents on the rural state highway system, 48.15 per cent took place on 1094.5 miles, or 8.68 per cent of the mileage.

Forty-two per cent of accidents occurred on the two heaviest traffic days of the week—Saturday and Sunday.

Many at Night

A "disproportionately large" number of night accidents, considering traffic, with 64 per cent of the total accidents after dark.

Accidents caused by some condition in the road were 4.1 per cent of the total, 3.3 per cent of which were due to automobiles crashing into cars blocking the highway because of a previous collision.

Condition "noteworthy" in 25.2 per cent of cases. "The physical condition of the roadway was the cause of the accident in 11.1 per cent of cases."

Two-Car Accidents Lead

Two-car accidents were more numerous than single-car accidents.

"The reason why 25.8 per cent of the accidents involved only single vehicles were not examined, but it is suspected that many were due to the poor physical condition of the drivers of the cars."

Accidents during the overtaking and approaching "maneuvers" were almost identical in number: 35.5 per cent of the total two-car accidents for the former, 25.7 for the latter.

The reason for the unsuppressed number of rear-end collisions is found in the speed differential between commercial and passenger vehicles. This reason holds even in cases of some three-lane roads where the center lane hazard is popularly supposed to be conducive to head-on collisions.

On the heavily-traveled truck route between E. Pershing and the Grapevine, and in Dublin canyon, freight vehicles were involved in 75 and 73 per cent, respectively, of all overtaking accidents.

"Cursory inspection" of incomplete data shows the average speeds of passenger cars range from 40 to 50 miles an hour either day or night.

Vehicles "appear to travel" more rapidly upgrade than downgrade. Dennis said the speeders and drunken drivers "who approximate one-fourth of the offenders, can very properly be taken care of by strict enforcement."

"The remainder, who we might say comprise the general run of drivers, are admittedly ignorant either of driving conditions, the mechanical operation of their cars, or knowledge of the rules of the road, and must be educated as to these fundamentals."

WIDENING HIGHWAY

Widening of Riverside-Ontario highway is assured by contract awarded by the state highway department for building 14.4 miles of shoulders along the route, advises the Automobile Club of Southern California engineering department. The link is only two-lane with no shoulders, and increasing travel has necessitated widening.

SNUG SHACKLE BOLTS

Keep spring shackle bolts snug but not tight enough to bind, advises the emergency service department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Bolts adjusted too tightly impair riding comfort and may cause the main spring leaf to break.

New Los Angeles Police V-8s Black and White

Above: Chief of Police James E. Davis, right, points out the city seal on the white sides of one of the 20 new specially painted Ford V-8s just put into traffic enforcement work by the Los Angeles police department. Upper right: Front and rear views of the new V-8s. All cars used primarily in traffic enforcement, whether state, city or county owned, must now be painted in this fashion. Lower right: Conventional black sedans—55 Ford V-8s—also purchased recently by the Los Angeles police department for general police work.

Twenty shiny, new black and white Ford V-8 sedans, the first city-owned cars so painted, are now patrolling the streets in traffic enforcement duty for the Los Angeles police department.

"The distinctive color of the new cars is required of all cars used in traffic enforcement work, whether they are state, county or city owned. The present specifications, laid down by Director Ray Ingels of the department of motor vehicles, state that "the sides of such motor vehicles shall be white, and the fenders, hood, rear and top shall be black." The seal of the city of Los Angeles is emblazoned on each side of the cars in accordance with specifications.

"The white Ford V-8s which we have been using in the exacting traffic enforcement work have proved themselves," said Chief James E. Davis, "and that is the reason we are buying more Fords. Averaging over 30,000 miles per year, and much of the time doing 24-hour duty, the white V-8s have met our requirements for speed, pick-up and durability, and have needed a minimum of servicing."

"In addition to the 20 black-and-white cars, we have just purchased 55 new black Ford V-8 sedans for general police work such as crime prevention, radio, and detective bureau work."

"The 228 Ford passenger cars—all V-8s—now in police work account for more than three-quarters of our total passenger car fleet."

AUTO BUILDS ATTENDANCE AT CHURCH

SEATTLE, March 25 (AP)—The Rev. Dr. J. Warren Hastings, 38, vice president of the International Convention of Disciples of Christ, credits the automobile with building up church and Sunday school attendance.

In an interview on the recent completion of his second year's Seattle pastorate, the former member of the President's unemployment committee said:

"The automobile has been branded with taking families out onto the highways instead of to church. But my studies indicate that if automobiles suddenly went out of existence, the 1800 to 2400 attendance at University Christian church would be cut by more than half."

PROTECT IGNITION

Ignition conduits cracked from wear or age, rubber insulation that is oil soaked or terminals that are loose should be replaced or repaired without delay, says the emergency service department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Otherwise, ignition trouble may result with damage to electrical units.

CARRY EXTRA LIGHTS

Every motorist should carry an extra fuse and full set of light bulbs in the car at all times. This may be the means of preventing an accident if the lights fail.

Plan Red Tags for Speeders and Reckless Drivers

LOS ANGELES, March 25 (AP).—A proposed law to force convicted speeders and reckless drivers to carry identifying red tags on their automobile and operator's licenses has been drafted by Assemblyman Charles W. Lyons.

The measure, approved by Traffic Judge C. Newell Carns, will be introduced in the next legislature, Lyons said.

"It will subject the 'red tag' motorist to a mandatory six-months jail sentence, if he drives any car without red tags," Judge Carns disclosed.

Time Not Far Off When Cars Will Have Motors in Rear

By GARRY GAROWAY

Of the Truck Department of L. D. Coffing Co., Distributors of Dodge Trucks for Orange County.

It has been freely predicted that the manufacturer, on a very limited scale this year of a certain new type automobile, with motor mounted in the rear instead of the conventional front mounting, is the beginning of a new car in design and use of an automobile. It is a complete reversal of the engineers' attitude toward the function of a motor, as it will push instead of pull the car. Power plants will be more compact and will be situated back of the rear axle and will permit the use of space now occupied by the motor, transmission, clutch, fender and hood, to be used for the convenience of passengers.

Passengers will ride over the front wheels instead of the rear wheels as now, and the driver will have an unobstructed view of the road, his seat being where the radiator is now located. About 50 per cent more space will be available for devising new features of use for an automobile. Seats can be placed in an entirely different position and features, such as arm chairs, lounges, small tables and small compartments for food with electric refrigeration will be developed and introduced.

Several school buses recently have been built with motors mounted in the rear and a great reduction in wheelbase has resulted, the overall length being reduced in some cases as much as eight feet.

It will be interesting to watch the development of the automobile of the future. Radical changes in design and engineering are coming. Our attitude toward our car will change, and we will be found using it more and finding greater pleasure and comfort in doing so. It will probably take five years or more before a major manufacturer puts this car into production, but it will surely come.

Watch for it!

NEW ROAD CUTS OUT HAZARDS

Eliminating a dangerous road jog, a right angle curve and a narrow railway underpass, the realigned Eighth street-La Cadena state highway between Colton and Riverside is now open, the Automobile Club of Southern California is advised. It has a 100-foot right of way.

Substituting for the old underpass is a modern wide subway. The new route crosses a Santa Ana river bridge, but direct connections has not yet been made and a graded, oiled temporary route is being employed. Within the next two weeks the road will be closed again for two days for another application of oil coating.

Progress Rapid on New Road to Mountain Resorts

Providing easier, quicker access to the mountain recreational regions of Wrightwood and Big Pines, Los Angeles county park, two of the most difficult sections of the new $131,000 state highway entrance from Cajon pass are nearing completion, it is reported to the Automobile Club of Southern California. The new route is expected to be finished within a few months.

The highway will join Sheep creek and Wild Horse canyon, by construction of a cut through a mountain spur. When completed, the new resort entrance will replace to a large extent the old steep road which has been overcrowded each week-end and on which accidents have occurred. It is being built on a 6 per cent grade, whereas the old road is on a 12 per cent grade.

AUTO SALES IN LARGE GAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25 (AP)—First complete figures on California's automobile sales have just been released, showing a gain of 37 per cent in January sales over the first month of 1935.

F. Walter Crimmon, publisher of Motor Registration News, said the sales of new cars and trucks were 16,567 units compared with 12,072 in the 1935 month.

The December sales were 23,976 units, up some 223 per cent from the preceding December.

Passenger car sales totaled 14,926, a gain of 43 per cent over the 1935 month, and commercial car sales were 1641, a decline of 1 per cent. Commercial car sales increased slightly in Northern California, but declined in the South.

Southern California sales for January were 9478, up 41 per cent.

School Project Told by State WCTU Head

Mrs. Alfred Launer Scores Imitative Philosophy

Over-emphasis of good sportsmanship is responsible for much of the temptations of young people in Orange county, declared Mrs. Alfred Launer, head of Y. W. C. A. Work in the northern section of the county.

Speaking at the W. C. T. U. banquet celebrating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Frances Willard, last night at the Christian church, Mrs. Launer said that feeling required to "do what the crowd does" presents the greatest problem for young people, especially during the Easter week houseparties at county beaches.

Mrs. Leroy Grimm, Placentia, introduced Mrs. Launer, and Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, state W. C. T. U. head.

Establishment in January of a three-months school for temperance teachers in Evanston, Ill., former home of Frances Willard, was described by Mrs. Wheeler. One of three means for increasing temperance, the school will be held each year.

Pledging of more than $650 by county unions was announced after Mrs. Wheeler said a five-year financing plan for the school had been launched. The quota to be raised in Orange county by September is $2000.

The school's purpose is to supply trained temperance teachers so that laws of 47 states requiring public instruction in effects of alcohol may be enforced. Motion pictures and exhibits are being shown students as rapidly as the material can be supplied, the speaker said.

Quoting the centennial celebration slogan: "Frances Willard--We March!" Mrs. Wheeler told of legislative advances made. Of 13 temperance bills proposed, including the "gin" marriage law, 13 have been made law in California. Nine bills in opposition were defeated through efforts of the W. C. T. U. and state church council, she said.

She asked Orange county citizens to report to her names of establishments reputedly selling liquor to minors.

Mrs. George Seaman, Yorba Linda composer, played two Spanish dances. Violin solos were played by Miss Charlotte Stafford, accompanied by Miss Helen Holmes concert master of the high school orchestra and glee club.

R. L. Lutes, scheduled to speak on "The Menace of Drugs," was unable to be present. The Rev. A. E. Kelly gave the invocation.

GARNISHING LAMB

Always dip apple rings in honey and garnish with gooseberry jelly when you want a gorgeous garnish for roast crown of lamb. Of course this applies to fried apple rings—but the frying must be done slowly and the apple rings must have their honey bath before anything else is done.

They Live By Their Looks

By WILLIAM T. MCLEERY
New York (AP)—Those beautiful advertising models who pose in everything from step-ins to convertible coupes insist that it takes more than a pretty face and a shapely figure to be a successful model.

More important than mere beauty, they say, are personality, poise, distinctive features and a dash or two of conceit.

Sometimes they're top-notchers in one line of modeling and failures in another. A girl whose picture makes the big magazines and the billboards consistently, for example, once tried to get a job modeling gowns in Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's shop.

A Bad Walk
"You walk like a football player," she was told. Yet she's in the big money now.

Two types of work are open to the advertising model: fashion shows, which pay from $15 to $25 for a two-hour show and a couple of advance fittings; and sitting for the cameras, which pays about $5 an hour. Some models charge double rates and get it.

The average age of advertising models is about 21, and the good ones make about $75 a week; the very good ones double that amount. Their bosses say an alert model can stay in the business for eight or 10 years, but most of them marry in a couple of years and stop working. Usually they marry pretty well.

They're not "beautiful but dumb." Some are not particularly good looking, but they all have charm and personality.

They get into the modeling business for a variety of reasons. Bunty Hartley, an 18-year-old Richmond, Va., girl, married a man who poses for advertisements and decided she'd like the same work.

Anita Counihan, who is beautiful, unmarried and 20, left a finishing school in Washington, D. C., and thought she'd prefer modeling to tea-dancing. You'll see her on the nation's billboards.

Quit School to Model

You probably wouldn't recognize her, though. Models whose pictures have been plastered from one end of the country to another—in newspapers, magazines and signboards—say that strangers never come up to them and say, "Excuse me, but aren't you the girl in the So-and-so cigarette ads?" They suppose it's partly because the photographers flatter them, and partly because people take their advertising girls impersonally.

Usually a girl is picked for a certain modeling job because she's a type—sweet, sophisticated, sporty or sentimental. Jane Steele got her first job because an advertiser wanted a frowning girl and Miss Steele frowns beautifully.

Upkeep is expensive, since a model must be well dressed and well groomed and they furnish their own clothes for most sittings.

Three little girls at work. They are Frances Pickett, in the bathing suit; Betty McLauchien, in the big hat; and Sally Bynum, with the big smile. They are advertising models—Sally and Frances, at the Models' Guild, and Betty, at the John Robert Powers agency.

Approximately 50 Girl Reserves from the Willard seventh and eighth grade clubs and the Lathrop eighth grade group will be accompanied by their leaders, Mrs. Quentin Matzen, Miss Ella Vezie, Miss Mary Alice Russey, Miss Marjorie Woods, Miss Mary Porter, and parents.

Mary Stoddard Legal Status of California Women Is Given in Voters' League Pamphlet

By MARY STODDARD
Through the local league of Women Voters, a concise pamphlet has come to hand, summarizing the position of married women in California in regard to property ownership, bequeathing of property rights, rights of guardianship of children and support, civil rights, and employment. Without involved terminology, it states clearly the legal rights of women under California law, reminding that only in comparatively recent years have property and bequeathing rights separate from those of the husband been allowed married women.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women

What do you think of a revival of the whipping post for young law violators, as urged by a Denver judge recently?

Mrs. B. E. Dawson: I never believed in using the whip to correct a child. You can't win by punishing young people that way. It just sets their tempers and makes them more apt to do wrong and be stubborn about it, I think. Talking and reasoning is a much wiser corrective method.

Mrs. E. C. Reed: For a small child who cannot understand, a very little physical punishment might be permissible; but the whipping post and that type of punishment I'm thoroughly opposed to. I don't think anything is gained by whipping, and it's a very poor corrective method.

HONOR COUPLE'S 20 YEARS OF MARRIAGE, CHURCH SERVICE

December, June, October, whatever the month, flowers have been placed in St. Peter's Lutheran church each Sunday for 20 years, always by the same faithful couple, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Krock, 1501 West Fifth street.

Sunday, the church honored the aging couple on the 20th anniversary of their marriage and for their prolonged service in the church. Ushers delivered letters of appreciation to the Krocks during service, and the Rev. Meyer voiced the congregation's thanks.

As they started home, the Krocks found in their automobile a large reading lamp and a lace tablecloth, gifts of the Ladies' Aid.

Column Left

Oiler Inspiration
Short Stuff

Few pastimes are as intriguing to sports columnists as figuring out the baseball teams on paper. Things look so simple when backed up by careful figures. Makes nice reading, too.

Also, it generally excites someone to fire back at you. Which is nice, too, if their answer happens to be printable. Too, we who have a daily stint to turn out this pastime is just like killing two birds with one stone.

Maybe you read our effort Monday when we figured out that the Santa Ana Stars would have a team with a potential batting average of .371 for the season to come. It looked good, made an easy column to write and we've a hunch it was read with interest. Our figures look just as good now as then, to us.

But not once did we think it would backfire at our own Stars! Yup, it is going to do just that, according to the pilot of the team we said would be most affected by the possible batting strength of our Stars!

Joe Rodgers down in Huntington Beach read it and his ears stood straight up. Now he's going to make that column the background for his first pep talk to the Championship Oilers. (Guess we'll have to figure the Oilers on paper so George Lackaye can fire up the Stars with it.)

"Just want to thank you for your writeup in your column Monday," a card from Joe says today. "It will serve toward the best 'pep' and fighting talk I could give my boys tomorrow night at a dinner at my house." But no invitation to the feed is attached—a strictly business affair, no doubt.

"I have cut it out," his epistle continues, "and will see that they all read it. Looks good to the Stars on paper, Frank, but it will be a different story on the field."

Joe is nice and confident and we like confident people, but he should have been more cautious here. He should have said, "It may be a different story on the field."

He goes on to battle a couple of our opinions on the 1936 situation, to wit: "Don't kid yourself, the 13-inch ball will be tougher to hit. And don't worry about the speed of my infield. Coates will have to be better than last year. And what have the Stars to compare with in reserve pitching to Russ Coggins?"

Short stuff: Hideo Higashi, one-time Santa Ana Junior college diamond star, is listed among the four best performers on the San Diego State college nine. . . . They tell us Higashi has long since been forgiven here for fumbling a ball back in 1932 that gave L. A. J. C. the title over the Dodgers. . . . Omaha, last year's U. S. track sensation, winner of the Kentucky derby, is highly regarded for the Ascent Gold Cup race in England this year. . . . Young Walter Johnson has failed to make the grade in his first major league tryout.

Steele Ascends
Uncrowned Throne

SEATTLE, March 25. (AP)—Freddie Steele of Tacoma posed today as the "uncrowned ruler" of the midweight boxing division. His claim is based on his winning triumph over Champion Eddie (Babe) Risko of Syracuse, N. Y., in a 10-round non-title slugfest here last night.

More than 9000 whooping fans saw Risko take a sound beating. The titleholder bled a right poke to the left eye in the first 30 seconds.

Steele, an unknown until he broke the jaw of Vince Dundee, former champion, last summer, failed to land his celebrated "Sunday punch," but he won in a breeze after the first three rounds.

He smeared Risko's face with blood with a crack to the nose in the sixth round, and opened a cut over the champion's left eye in the ninth. Steele showed no marks. The Associated Press sheet gave Risko the first three rounds by a shade and Steele all the rest except the eighth, which was even.

Even 'Dogs' At Race Track
Have Day; Beatem Collects

By OSCAR OATS

Every dog has his day, so two of Tryan Beaten's super-long shot selections romped home at Tanforan yesterday and gave that gentleman a very happy day indeed in his long shot vs. form selections contest with Wynott Riskitt, strictly favorite player.

Beatem netted a cool $65.80 for the day because Dow B. and Drombo came in, rewarding him on his $4-$4-$2 bet like this:

Drombo . . . $22.40 $12.40 $5.20
Dow B. . . . 70.00 17.50 3.50
Lady Edith . . . 4.60

Squeezers was scratched in the fifth, reducing Beatem's $80 wager for the day to $70.

Scratches saved Riskitt from a terrible beating, it seems. Sophist, Rock Point and Sabina were taken out, cutting Riskitt's risk to $50. Lysander and Stainforth came in second and third respectively, bringing Riskitt $5.60 and $2.20; that $10.80 made his loss for the day $39.20.

Riskitt still kept his lead in the total figures, however, with his DUBLIN, March 25. (AP)—A sum of money totaling $275,000 was earmarked for residents of the United States this morning as the result of drawings of residual and consolation prizes in the Irish Free State hospital sweepstakes.

Up until the noon recess, 330 American-held tickets had been drawn. Four of these will receive $26,877 each as residual prizes. The other 326 will receive $500 each.

A total of 720 cash prizes were drawn during the morning, leaving $80 to be drawn in the afternoon.

Americans had taken almost exactly 5 per cent of the 728 prizes drawn yesterday, the first day, 326 Americans being assured about $3600. Twenty-seven Americans held tickets on five of the favorites in the Grand National, to be run Friday at Aintree.

Holders of the tickets on the winning horse will receive about $150,000, those on the second horse about $75,000, and on the third about $50,000.

TRACK EVENT
IN TURMOIL

LOS ANGELES, March 25. (AP)—It's up to the Pacific coast conference to decide whether it's 1936 track and field meet will be held in Los Angeles as originally scheduled, or elsewhere.

The coliseum commission has advised University of California at Los Angeles and University of Southern California, joint hosts of the tournament, that their permit to stage the big event May 30 has been revoked.

War veterans' organizations, pointing out that the date falls on Memorial day, requested permission to hold formal exercises in the huge structure, and it was granted.

The commission suggested the meet could be held on the night of May 30, but whether the night plan is adopted or the meet moved to another date or another city is up to the conference for decision.

Berkeley Invites Meet

REDS HAVE NO PLACE TO GO
BUT UP THIS SEASON

By PAUL MICKELSON

TAMPA, Fla., March 25. (AP)—Cincinnati's Reds started their 1936 baseball campaign from the floor of the Atlantic ocean but expect to wind up atop second division, at least, in the National League hemisphere.

Manager Charlie Dressen, the type of man who insists on progress, can't miss this year. When he took his players to Puerto Rico, he let them go deep sea diving the first few days.

"With a start like that," Dressen figured, "there's only one direction to go. That's up. I'm not talking a pennant for Cincinnati this year because we probably can't overpower such clubs as the Cubs, Cardinals, Giants and Pirates but we should top the second division."

Lack of punch probably will keep the Reds from starting a revolution among the National League ranks. Except for Catcher Ernie Lombardi and Outfielder Babe Herman, the Reds can't count on a single sure fire long range hitter. However, the pitching and defense should be tight enough to make the club a tough one to beat.

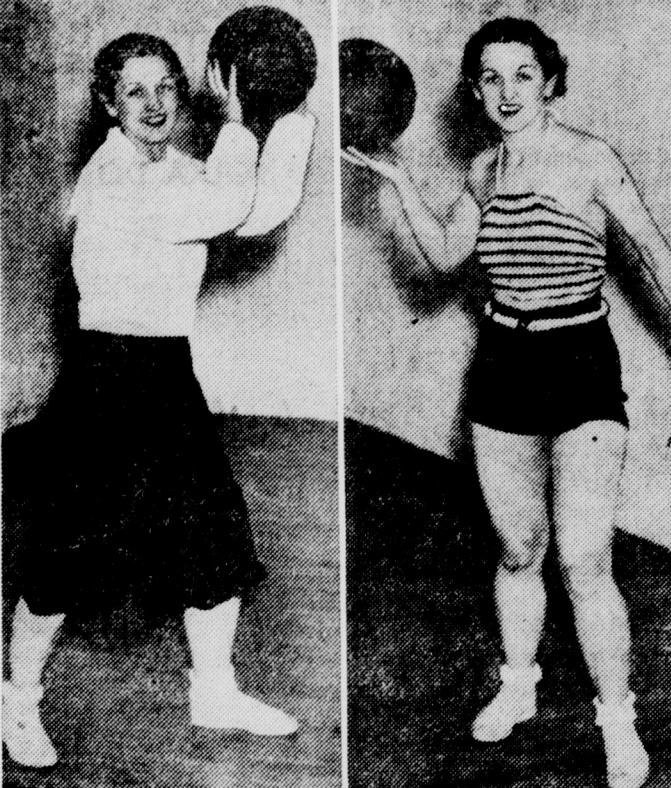

Paul Derringer, giant right hander who won 22 and lost 13 last year for the third place Reds is the pitching ace of a staff that

Blonde Basketeers
Darkhorses Now

WICHITA, Kan., March 25. (AP)—Two blonde sextets were the "dark horses" of the women's national A. A. U. basketball tournament today as eight surviving teams prepared for action in the quarter finals tonight.

The blonde hopefuls who moved into the round with six seeded teams were the Salt Lake City Aerobachs, 30-16 winners over Eldorado, Kan., and the Lambuth college sextet of Jackson, Tenn., which registered an upset by ousting the Galveston, Tex., Ramblers, 20 to 16.

The one, two and three favorites, the Eldorado, Ark. Lions, the title-defending Tulsa Seniors, and the Des Moines, A. I. B. team advanced last night without difficulty, the Seniors turning in a decisive 44-12 victory over the Kansas City centers.

THIRD DEAN BOY SIGNS UP
Elmer Ace Goobar Salesman

HOUSTON, Tex., March 25. (AP)—Elmer Dean, the last holdout among the Dean brothers, has signed.

Elmer, whose kid brothers, Jerome (Dizzy) and Paul (Daffy), came to terms recently with the St. Louis Cardinals, stepped from the holdout ranks yesterday and signed a contract as pennant vendor at the Houston, Texas, league park this summer.

Elmer is a perennial tryout with the Houston club. This spring he sought a berth, but President Fred Ankenman did not have a uniform that would fit him. Not to be out-

CLEARWATER.—With Red Ruffing still a holdout, the Yankees take on the Brooklyn Dodgers again today, hoping to avenge that 3-0, one hit shutout yesterday.

Caspe Stengel said his pitching staff would make plenty of trouble for the Yankees in any game "because our servers are all professionals."

PENSACOLA.—The Giants and the Cubs play the fifth game of their six-game series here today. Bill Terry and Hank Leiber played their first games of the season yesterday, Terry getting a double and a single and Leiber getting a double.

NEW ORLEANS.—The Indians were jubilant today because every reserved seat had been sold for their opening league encounter with the Tigers April 14. Steve O'Neill was told by club officials that he was the first time in history a sellout was attained so far in advance of the opening game.

BARTOW.—The Phillies were here today to play Rochester, after scoring their sixth consecutive victory over Milwaukee. Gene Corbett, getting two hits, including a triple, filled in nicely for Dolph Camilli who was out of yesterday's game with a sore shoulder.

ST. PETERSBURG.—The Cincinnati Reds are not too impressed with their box office drawing power at this stage of the training season. Only 135 persons paid to see them play the Athletics yesterday. The Reds play their finale of the training series with the Bees today.

LA JOLLA.—Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers thinks he has found something in Clarence (Red) Phillips, big Beaumont right-hander who held the Bees to two hits while walking nine in five innings yesterday. Phillips is the same height as Schooley Rowe, weighs 195 and has shown fine control.

Wrestling Job

LOS ANGELES, March 25. (AP)—Primo Carnera, giant of the prizefighting, can have a job wrestling here if he's interested. Lou Daro, czar of the mat industry here, said today he was opening negotiations with the towering Italian, who recently was knocked out of the heavyweight fighting picture by Leroy Haynes, former Los Angeles Negro.

No mention was made of financial inducements pending word from Carnera that he might be lured into the wrestling trade.

Mat Show Monday

The former world heavyweight champion wrestler, Ed (Strangler) Lewis, may be signed to headline Monday night's wrestling card at the Orange County Athletic club, it was announced today.

Dark the past week because no notoch mat men could be signed to headline the bill, efforts are being made today by officials of the club to match Lewis and Chief Chewchki, the wild gyppo, or sign Lewis and the colorful Japanese champion, Oki Shikina.

It is understood that a new deal is pending that will bring the greatest wrestler in the heavyweight division here for the spring and summer months, with Lewis the first of the topnotchers under consideration.

Gelker Aroused
By Star's Loss

By PAUL WRIGHT

Exploding in the final minute of an otherwise peaceful session, a three-way row over the services of Outfielder Leavitt Daley caused hot words to flow from Olive, Anaheim and Santa Ana in the back room of the Blue Bird cafe, Garden Grove, last night. National Night Ball league moguls gathered (1) to approve their 1936 schedule, (2) to vote life passes to players, managers and other officials who have been connected with the after-dinner pastime for 10 or more years, and (3) to instruct Otto Jacobs, attorney and president of the Santa Ana commission, to draw up articles of incorporation for the six-team conference.

Gelker Steaming
Big Ben Gelker, guiding hand of the Olive Grenadiers, came boiling over with excitement and disgust.

"I want to know what happened to the deal whereby I was to get Leavitt Daley for Al Reboin from Santa Ana last season," he shouted, just as the confab was closing after two-and-a-half hours of routine business.

Mr. Gelker was all steamed up over the news yesterday that Anaheim, now being reorganized under the direction of two ex-Long Beach Admirals, Business Manager W. E. (Bill) Feistner and Catcher-Field Manager Elwayne (Eeny) Wilcox, had signed Daley.

Recalls '35 Deal
The Olive manager recalled the deal of last spring in which he released the formidable Reboin, .468 slugger, to the Santa Ana commission with the understanding Daley, another one of the league's premier players, would be free to join Olive.

"I released Daley, and President Wentz declared him a free agent. I couldn't instruct him to sign with Olive," explained John Wilcox of the Santa Ana commission. When Manager Feistner learned Daley was free, Anaheim immediately signed him, it was reported.

Settles Argument
President Wentz officially settled the argument by referring to the league ruling whereby all trades must be agreeable to the players involved as well as to the business managers. Daley apparently did not desire to play at Olive.

"I guess you live and learn," blasted Gelker. "The next time Santa Ana wants one of my players the club can send over the entire commission and it won't do any good." The Olive manager said he would not have turned loose Reboin if he had known Daley was not coming to his club.

Riled over an insinuation by Gelker that "Anaheim is covering too much territory," Feistner of the up-county club retorted, "They gave me the horse laugh over at Long Beach when I sponsored a team that lost 28 straight games. I'm out for a winner this year, and it is my own personal business how many good players I sign."

Veterans Honored
Life passes were voted the following players and officials who have been affiliated with night-ball locally for 10 or more seasons: George Peterkin, ex-president of the loop; Ben Gelker, Fritz Gurner, Rudy Hemmer and Randolph Bell, Olive; Ralph (Bill) Cole, John Wilcox, Horace Snow, Otto Jacobs and E. C. West, Santa Ana; Fred Grable, Howard Mor-ring and Jack Robinson, Huntington Beach; James (Jimmie) Hefron, Al Bushman, Max Moody and Al Kohler, Anaheim, and C. C. (Gavvy) Cravath, president of the Southern California Night Ball association.

The league voted to use any make of 13-inch ball weighing between 8 and 8 1/4 ounces the first round. An official ball will be adopted at the beginning of the second bracket of five games.

SANTA ANA STORES WILL SHOW NEW SPRING STYLES TOMORROW

EASTER FASHION PARADE TO SIGNAL END OF WINTER

Stores Open Until 8:30 p. m. for Displays of Latest Garb; Some Merchants Plan Public Modeling of Clothing in Big Event at Ebell Clubhouse

Tomorrow the end of winter will be celebrated in Santa Ana. Tomorrow the Easter fashion parade will herald the coming of spring. New styles, new materials, new clothes with the springtime slant will be displayed tomorrow night in stores and in the Easter fashion parade at the Ebell auditorium. Hints on what to wear this spring, how to wear it—and where to buy it—will be in evidence on every hand tomorrow. Santa Ana stores will display in their windows their latest offerings.

Colors Pace Fashions At Rankin's

Easter fashions will cut three ways for color!

If you trek through Rankin's department store with eyes wide open for what's new and exciting in spring styles, you'll be certain to be impressed with the new tri-color scheme to be shown during the Easter fashion parade.

If your order goes for a smart gray gabardine suit, the shoes and hat may be gray, and the purse and gloves a dashing new carrot hue. If you go for gold, you can contrast with purple, if you like, and have brown for your third—but there must be three colors if you would be chic.

Or have a feminine edition of the manly tux for evening wear. But whatever the gown, there's a new fragrance and a bit of hazy jewelry to enhance it. I learned as to perfume, coiffe is the "coming thing," since in all times of day we've inclined this season to be sporty, and coiffe can be splashed on and still have that correctly careless effect. Don't forget the Easter bonnets, either!

To top off your beach-resort plans, break down and purchase a satin latex swim suit in white or flesh tone—it fits like a glove but is much more attractive.

And for an Easter gift, a frivolous little one, purchase three or four soap bunnies with pastel cardboard ears—they're irresistible!

Hosiery shades should blend with costume colors, and not stand out conspicuously by themselves. The vogue for bright or definitely contrasting matched accessories, including even color for shoes, calls for hosiery shades that merge with the basic costume color, for daytime wear.

Ochre rose, which is a delicately pink ochre, is a new shade that is smart and different. It tones in satisfactorily with a wide variety of costume shades and has a slimming, flattering subtlety.

Evening hosiery refuses to be neutral, however, and pastels are important in chiffons so wispy that there is just enough of the pastel tone discernible when the hose is worn.

It's Spring--the Time of Year When Milady Blossoms Out in the Latest Style Creations

April's just around the corner—and for everyone from wide-eyed little Susan up to spring-shopping mother and the rest of the family, that means a new Easter bonnet, spring housecleaning and new furniture for the house, and in general a brand new 1936 lease on life.

Nor will milady be able to resist shopping here'n there, this spring, for an intriguing array of new colors, new quirks of fashion and all sorts of innovations in all sorts of merchandise in Santa Ana's stores combine to invite admirers and purchasers.

There's a bright purple bonnet for madame, an exciting whiff of perfume to dash behind an ear... and there are any number of Easter wardrobe gifts for the man of the house and for the very young miss, so don't forget to go shop-touring, early!

BUREAU PLANS DRESS REVIEW

A dress review is being planned this spring by the home department of the farm bureau, it was announced today by Frances L. Liles, home demonstration agent. The date has not been announced.

Dress finishes such as bound button holes, set in pockets, plaques and collars will be demonstrated in farm home department centers during April. In preparation for this program, a training meeting for project leaders who will assist Miss Liles will be held at 1204 Cypress avenue at 10 a. m. Thursday.

Miss Liles held seven meetings during March, at which patterns were altered to fit 37 women who do not fall into the classification of "perfect thirty-sixes." These patterns will be used at the spring dress review.

Those who will attend the meeting here on Thursday are Mrs. Albert Bircher and Mrs. H. H. Freese, Anaheim; Mrs. H. T. Brewer and Mrs. C. O. Thomson, Orange; Miss Wilona Benson, Mrs. Ross Folger and Mrs. Walter Kubit, Garden Grove; Mrs. W. W. Goetz, Mrs. R. L. Blanchard and Mrs. C. S. Minter, West Orange; Mrs. G. H. Christian and Mrs. Charles Grisct, Tustin, and Mrs. Lester Schofield, Buena Park.

MONK SANDALS FOR EASTER!

Strap your insteps in monk sandals of colored buckskin and join the Easter fashion parade! Teen age, spry miss or athlete, straps and buckskin will get your feet before summer.

For men, white buckskin is tops right now, at Sebastian's shoe store, 108 East Fourth street. Perforated uppers and crepe soles predominate, in leathers as well as the new buckskins.

Two-toned to correspond with leather and buckskin styles are tricky linen-weave Kedettes, crepe-soled canvas slippers with low or medium heels, a novelty this season at Sebastian's.

Spielman, Mr. Bell, Samuel Hart, Mr. Vandermast, Mr. Carden and Carl Stein.

FASHION SHOW AT WARDS

Montgomery Ward will stage a complete showing of the season's newest fashions in the Fourth and Main street windows Thursday evening at 7:30 by the following group of local models: Alice Whitten, Bernice Bronson, Hazel Harper, Janice Marguerat, Jane Reed and Lois Newbold.

The public will see the latest and most authentic styles, colors, and fabrics; the newest coats in 1936, modern smart tailored suits, tailored dresses for morning wear, the casual afternoon dress and a hat for every costume.

The fashion parade will be culminated by showing a group of outstanding values in exceptionally attractive dinner gowns, cocktail frocks and formal in the season's gray florals and deep pastels. The store will be open from 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. Thursday.

Styles in Furs Are Described

Silver fox, sable, marten—wear them in capes, jackets or trotteurs as complements to your spring suit, advises Olive M. Duling, 218 North Broadway.

Capes of flattering flat furs, moleskin, kidskin. American broadtail, ermine, galyak and caracul will be among the most popular furs this season, Miss Duling believes, and she has stocked her shop accordingly. She has been in business for 11 years here.

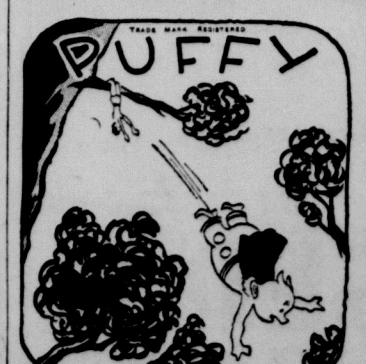

New Spring Idea! Cravanette Cloth

Cravanetted fabrics are a good idea when you're too busy to let an occasional spring shower shower you up. All the smart suit colors are represented, including postman blue and oankers' gray. Gabardines are out in full force in the cravanetted fabrics, with lots of smart sharkskin, too. Side pleat skirts boast sturdy hookless fasteners, to keep you neat and all-in-one piece.

INSTRUMENTS STOLEN FEB. 18 PLOWED UP IN ORCHARD

Surgical instruments stolen from a car parked in a private garage at the rear of the home of Dr. Lawrence M. Young, 2112 Greenleaf street, Santa Ana, were uncovered in an orange grove just north of the Santiago Creek park project on Monday. The theft occurred last Feb. 18, according to records on file at the Santa Ana police department.

On Monday, while the orchard was being plowed, several small bottles were turned up near one of the trees. Investigation revealed a case containing the stolen instruments. Assistant Chief of Police Harry Fink was called to the scene by Mrs. C. E. Wagner, who lives near the orange grove, and the instruments were returned to Dr. Young.

"I'll swing you," says Alice, "and then let you go. You'll drop to a branch of that tree down below." Puff swings back and forth, then he drops into space. His arms are stretched out far in front of his face.

ORCHIDS ARE MOTIF FOR EASTER

Orchid blooms in the newly-completed millinery and ready-to-wear section of the Famous Department store, at Fourth and Bush streets.

Orchid shades in dresses, in fluffy blouses for chic suits, in spring straw and felt hats. Orchid and russet, yellow and white, colors as fresh and inviting as the wearing apparel which they adorn. Flash in racks conveniently ranged along walls of the spacious department, ready for the Easter fashion parade.

Other sections of the store are being renovated, to give greater convenience for customers and better display arrangements. For the woman who snips and stitches to suit her fancy, new weaves and colors in silk and woolen yardage in spring and summer patterns have been stocked.

Smart shoes, hats and all accessories to match any fabric selected are displayed. Infants and children's clothing are carried in addition to adult garments.

When present changes are completed the entire store will be renovated, Manager Pete Colanichik announced.

JUVENILE HOSIERY HAS NEW COLOR INTEREST

Anklets for spring have new and interesting color combinations to offer. Peach, aqua and helio are important additions to the usual range of pastels. These three new shades offer delightful accents that can be tied up with discreet little touches here and there for frock trimmings.

Yellow is a sunny color that is very popular. However, pastels do not monopolize the field. There are plenty of bright, gay colors in patterns and stripes that manage to look well in the most unexpected contrasts. Patterns that are the same on both sides of socks are new and practical. You can wear the sock straight up or cuffed and still keep the pattern intact. This should be good news for young girls, who are showing a preference for anklets worn straight up this spring.

AIRMAIL AUGMENTED

LOS ANGELES, March 25. (AP)—Airmail service between Los Angeles and San Francisco will be augmented starting April 1. A mail plane will leave here at noon and arrive at San Francisco at 2:10 p. m., and at Oakland at 2:20 p. m., daily. In addition a mail plane will leave San Francisco daily for Los Angeles at 11:40 a. m., arriving here at 2 p. m. The new service brings to five the mail planes plying daily between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

LADIES' SUITS POPULAR FOR SPRING

There are various types of suits for spring. Strictly mannish types are of major importance, but there are feminized tailors that scorn any fussy details, but are feminized by lines that accentuate the figure.

The influence of masculine clothes is immediately recognizable in the man tailored suit. The shoulders are built out for just a suggestion of width, which makes the hipped-in waist look even more slender, by contrast. Single breasted styles with one button closing are much smarter than double breasted styles. Jacket lengths are planned to simulate men's coat lengths, and sleeves are just about cuff length. Skirts are slender, slender, slender.

Sleeves are straight and slim. The notched lapel collar sports a buttonhole, and is frankly intended for a fob or tailored flower. The only slight suggestion of added detail allowable is possibly a bit of braided trimming, or stitched edges. Hard finished worsteds, men's wear fabrics with hair line stripes are the rule.

The tailored suit with fitted lines is not as smart as the strictly mannish suit, but it is smart—just in case you are convinced you're not the type to be too mannish. Jackets to these suits may be a short as hipbone length, but no matter what length the jacket, the waistline is fitted as tightly as possible.

The three piece suit faithfully carries on the masculine tradition and jauntily wears a topcoat that seeks its inspiration from the man's topcoat types. The two piece tailored suit worn underneath is man tailored, of course. These topcoats complete their mannishness with twin linings. Colors are smartly oxfords, black, navy and the darker shades of gray. This topcoat silhouette is predominantly straight in line, but is also shown slightly shaped, if you prefer less severity. Reefers are also shown for three-piece suits.

Grays Popular in Sports Suits

Mannish styles and men's wear fabric have practically scooped the sports suit news. Gray flannel is tremendously important, and the grays range from light tones to darker shades that are more practical, if you worry about things like that. The new herringbone mixtures are particularly masculine in effect. Typical men's wear fabrics are livened by discreet stripes. Not too noticeable, but there, just the same. You can even safely effect a velvet collar if you go in for all the serious details.

IT'S SPRING AT SWANBERGER'S

A colorful parade of men's fashions, featuring the three most popular fabrics to be worn in Southern California this Spring and Summer, will be presented Thursday night by Swanberger's men's store as a portion of the Spring Fashion show to be staged at the Ebell auditorium.

In announcing the models to be presented at the fashion parade, Walter Swanberger said that none of the styles to be displayed have been imported. All are in stock at Swanberger's store for men. The trend this season, according to Mr. Swanberger, is toward Glen Urquhart plaids, chalk stripes and double-breasted models.

Riley Huber and Don Harwood, popular young Santa Anans, will model the several spring and summer numbers featured at Swanberger's. Some of the combinations which Mr. Huber and Mr. Harwood will model include a Urquhart plaid double-breasted suit styled for Swanberger by Timely. This ensemble will feature a Dobbs Homborg hat in a harmonizing color, deep tone shirt and contrasting tie. Another combination consists of a white gabardine sports coat, blue doe-skin gabardine slacks and a Dobbs white Tyrolan hat.

A white gabardine suit, double-breasted with sport back, tailored by Timely, and a white Dobbs Tyrolan hat is another combination that will be presented. Still another combination consists of a Timely plaid sports coat, white gabardine slacks, Grayco bow tie and a Dobbs cap.

FHA SURVEY TO

A net saving of $2450 was shown by the board of supervisors yesterday when they accepted revised estimates for the continuation of the Federal Housing act survey, a Works Progress administration project, as presented by Fred P. Jayne, head of the professional, technical and women's work division of WPA.

The revised estimates for the project call for the expenditure of $550 by the county, as sponsors of the survey, as opposed to $3000 under the original plan. The project also will be set up for six months instead of a year, as was originally provided and will employ 14 workers instead of 30.

The project will go into its second year of existence soon. The WPA rejected the project as originally approved by the board, on the ground that the expense was too great.

Long Lapels, Broad Shoulder
Styles Newest for Spring

By DUNCAN PAIGE

Alert men who say "rush" to everything new and correct, are voting heavily for some of the late styles. The more I scouted around and observed the clothing of well-dressed men, the more convinced I became that these models will dominate the style picture.

Their chief charm is their uncanny ability to idealize the figure appearance are the direct result of these important changes: Long lapels that are cut wider, a lower-waisted waistline, a slightly longer jacket, trimly tapered sleeves and side vents.

For those men whose tastes lean toward single-breasted suits, a new model has been created that stirring up plenty of interest. Through an ingenious method of making, the sleeves do not overlap at the shoulders, instead, they hang from seams at the furthestmost shoulder points. This makes the shoulders appear squarer and broader.

Long Rolling Lapels Popular

Broader and Squarer Shoulders

Some "rough stuff" will be in order this spring and should deserve a place in the well-balanced wardrobe. Rough-textured fabrics which include vividly colorful tweeds and soft shetlands, fairly breathe with the beauty and ruggedness of the cut-of-doors.

There's one pattern as new and fresh as a spring morning—it's dourne stripes! As the name implies, stripes of two colors alternate.

Other new, favored patterns include banjo stripes, sharkskin and overplaid.

HERE IS THIRD PRIZE ESSAY

Originality, patriotism and grammatical accuracy were considered in selecting winners of the Americanism essay contest, who were announced Monday by Miss Julia Ann Magill, Americanism chairman of Legion auxiliary unit No. 131.

Ethel Ann Williams, fifth grade student at McKinley school, is the author of the essay, "The Flag of Our Country," published today completing publication of the three essays receiving first prize in their respective classes. Yesterday the essay by Dorothy Ladd, eighth grade, was published. Anne Ulseth, ninth grade, wrote the essay published Monday.

THE FLAG OF OUR COUNTRY

One day long, long ago, the Continental Congress met. At their meeting on June 17, 1777, they said they wanted a flag that would stand for their country. At that time there were but 13 colonies, so the flag was ordered to have seven red stripes, six white and a blue field with 13 stars on it. The red stands for courage, blue for truth and white for purity.

We are serving our flag by obeying the laws, going to school, pledging allegiance to the flag, and singing about it.

Our flag means freedom, love and protection for us. Many soldiers have carried a lot of flags for us long, long ago, and they have worked for our country, so we should never forget our flag or say anything bad about it, because it stands for our country, the United States of America.

TWO SENTENCED FOR TORTURE DEATH OF CAT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25. (AP)—Municipal Judge Sylvain J. Lazarus yesterday sentenced Alphonse Jones and Jack Bernier, former navy men, to serve 10 months in jail for torturing a cat to death.

Mrs. M. Mona, their landlady, testified the two men poured whiskey down the cat's throat with a funnel, threw the animal against a wall, then tossed it out the window, killing it.

Improved conditions in German agriculture have increased sales of farm machinery.

Russians Will Attempt to Revive Organisms Frozen Many Thousands of Years

MOSCOW, March 25. (AP)—A scientific expedition prepared today to leave for a Siberian "region of eternal frost" to attempt to recover and revive organisms believed to have been in a state of suspended life processes for tens of thousands of years.

The decision to send an expedition representing the Russian Academy of Sciences followed successful experiments by a group of scientists headed by the academician, Peter Kaptereff, on minute organisms thought to have been in a retarded state for 1000 to 3000 years.

The organisms were dug up from a depth of three to four meters (about 10 to 13 feet) in a region sweeping from the Arctic southward through central Siberia, where the ground below nine feet never thaws.

Kaptereff said a block of frozen

Furniture in Late Styles at Dickey's

How to keep cool and crisp and calm through the coming warm summer months is attracting many a feminine shopper to the L. A. Dickey Furniture company's store to see the newest thing in refrigeration.

If your dining room merits a new set of furniture, or the living room wants to be made more livable, or perhaps you need some swank new furniture for the bedroom, you'll be interested in the new streamlined furniture on display at Dickey's. Everything's just as cozy as father's old Morris chair, but plus the 'nth degree of 1936 chic.

Oak predominates in new furniture, a survey of the store will indicate. Of course, Governor Winthrop desks and all the standard articles are still to be purchased and cherished by the discriminating home owner.

And for summer, there are any number of cunning little coffee and cool drink tables, chairs and pieces to be obtained from Dickey's.

ENGINEER FOR HARBOR IS EMPLOYED

Immediate steps to put Newport harbor on a basis of permanent upkeep by the federal government were taken yesterday when the board of supervisors authorized the employment of George M. Malone, consulting engineer for Los Angeles harbor, as consulting engineer at Newport harbor.

Mr. Malone's work will be largely in the nature of contact activities in Washington, with a view toward obtaining a permanent allotment for harbor upkeep. The county was provided for by a special act, it was explained, and at present does not come under the provisions of the rivers and harbors act.

The new official, who will be paid a retaining fee of $250 per month, will receive $50 a day and expenses while working in the interests of the harbor.

He is a recognized authority in his field, and has had a great deal of experience in such work. Supervisor Willard Smith said.

Previous to his connection with the Los Angeles harbor, he was employed in special engineering work in San Francisco, and prior to that time was Nevada state engineer. He is vice president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, and is expected to prove of great value in helping establish Newport harbor as a national harbor, and relieving the county of the burden of maintenance in the future.

The new expedition intended to go deeper into the frozen ground in the hope of uncovering organisms of the "fourth age" or remote past.

Picture of County Harbor Is Given to Supervisors

Straying eyes of spectators and officials in the board room of the Orange county supervisors no longer will encounter bare walls. Yesterday afternoon a party of officials of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce presented the board with a large oil painting of the harbor, executed by W. A. Sharp, well known Alhambra artist, as a "means of showing their appreciation of the many favors of the board."

The board decided to hang the painting in a prominent position on the west wall of the board room, nearly over the heads of Supervisors W. C. Jerome and N. E. West.

Newport officials who presented the gift were President Sam E. Meyer, Vice President Theodore Robbins, and Secretary Harry Welch.

A Review of the important Spring Styles for MEN!

Styles don't just "happen" in the men's clothes carried by Vandermaast. We always have featured the leading standard lines, many of them confined to our store in Santa Ana, and these lines are known for AUTHENTIC styles . . . representing the best from the three main fashion sources, London, Eastern Universities, and the Movie Colony.

Our Suits this Spring, Society Brand, Worsteds, and Benchley, show the development of the sports backs. See the new long-roll, double-breasted, English style. The Gusset Sleeve is new, a simple back with two short pleats or gussets below the shoulder and two side vents at the bottom of the jacket. Stripes, checks, plaids, in color . . . wonderful new fabrics.

Modified Tyroleans and wider, lower crowns set the Hat trend for Spring . . . in Stetsons, Borsalinos, Pennacrafts, and Melbourne.

Color and patterns represent a kaleidoscope broadside in furnishings. Tartan plaids, checks, glen plaids and small distinct checks galore. The sports influence is strong.

We cordially invite you to attend this OPENING! . . . also the opening downstairs of our new "BOYTOWN" and "VARSITY SHOP!" . . . the latter a new department for high school and college men, greatly enlarged.

SANTA ANA STORES OFFER NEWEST IN FASHIONS FOR WOMEN

EASTER GIVEN BRIGHT HUE AT WARD'S

Through the gamut of rainbow tints run the dainty spring formalisms Montgomery Ward's is showing this season. If you're to be taken to a swank dance, spring vacation, the right frock is sure to be there for you, among the store's wide varieties of dresswear.

And shirtdresses! Highly refined and idealized, it blossoms out in the prettiest of spring suit materials. Add a gray blouse, and a bright corsage, and there you are in your Easter outfit, ready for the fashion parade. There are prints and plain frocks in abundance, one and two-piece.

Hats go from felt to straw, with here and there a cunning clump of little artificial flowers.

Slacks in vivid desert cloth and swim suits, brief and well-fitting, betoken summer at the beach.

Nor is that all; for when midday is outfitted from top to toe, she can look around and find Easter outfits for the other members of her family, in the clean and neatly arranged shelves of this modern store.

Twin Sweaters Have Snappy Hues

Every spring means at least one new twin sweater set. A more thoroughly satisfactory fashion never was invented. Pay special attention to the purples. Purple shades are in for spring, and there's your chance to add a new color addition to your family of twin sweaters. Of course, the colors are just as grand and just as varied as each new crop of sweaters always are.

Spring Hats Make Permanent Waves Essential This Year

The new hats reveal the coiffure quite completely, barring the back of the head for applause or criticism. If you haven't one of those little blessings, a triple mirror, now is the time to get one.

NEW STYLES AT RONSHOLDT'S

In the Spanish-California atmosphere of El Patio shop, in the Santa Ana building, Second and Fourth streets, F. E. Ronsholdt displays all types of spring dresses, suits, coats and blouses for sport, formal and informal occasions.

On the first floor Ronsholdt's children's clothing shop features silks and cottons. Perky things for girls 7 to 16 years old are in another department, and inexpensive spring attire for milady in a third division.

Betty Rose Has Easter Tips for Kiddies

If you want to dress your infant for Easter as smartly and crisply as you dress yourself, or as frivolously as you'd like to dress, the wherewithal is to be found at the Betty Rose shop.

Pastel ruffled daintiness for the very youngest Miss, accessories in miniature modeled after Mama's, and a gay assortment of baby and small child's articles in the shop's collection bring delight to any mother.

the nearest phone and make an appointment at your Beauty Shop. You simply can't put off having your permanent until late Spring, in anticipation of Summer at the seashore or hatless days in the country. Your permanent wave should be a few days old before you even attempt to buy your first exciting, new spring hat. Whether you plan to wear a mass of ringlets, fit your head, the motto is: do it now! Some of the new hats wear ribbon bandeaux, snoods or even flower bands at the back to help keep the hair under control; but they don't do any covering up.

Spring Coats Have Many Colors

Spring coats abound in variety of colors and variety of fabrics. You can be conservatively black, brown or navy if you like; or resplendently colorful. However, whatever your coat color, the fabric is bound to be interesting, because coat fabrics for Spring just simply insist upon individuality.

Nice, sleek broadcloth will make you feel elegant as can be, and is assuredly smart. Broadcloth will help typify quite the last word in dress coat smartness. The surface interest of the new broadcloths shines right out at you, because it looks actually satiny.

Novelty woolens are seen by the scores in the new coats of the season.

Black broadcloth is formality at its best, whether your coat is fur trimmed or not. Putty color is new, and conservatively smart. Cloudy grays take on a silvery sheen in this Spring edition of broadcloth. And as a final joy, you can have broadcloth in pastels if you want them, and you will want them badly once you've seen them!

Neat little patterns that are woven into coating materials give a sort of lively interest to the fabric surface, but do not show up too prominently. In other words, the fabric is admired as a whole, without any special consciousness of the pattern involved. Small diagonal patterns and tiny little diamond patterns are both very smart.

EARRINGS TO MATCH FROCK
Earrings to match the trimming of your spectator sports frocks are new. Any tailor shop at small cost will cover the button-type earrings with a scrap of the trimming material.

Knitting School at Workbasket

"Knit one, purl two—now where did I drop that stitch?" So it goes, from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. each day at the Workbasket, 411 North Broadway, where women gather for instruction in embroidery, crocheting or knitting suits, hats, bedspreads, bags and other types of fancywork.

Yarns and threads of all shades and thicknesses, silken or fluffy wool, bridge favors, stamped linens and patterns for knit garments abound in the Workbasket, which remains open for an extra instruction session each Saturday evening until 9 o'clock.

GET CONTRAST! IS EASTER CRY

"I'd like a grey pair of shoes to go with my grey suit," said she. Last year, but not this! This year, it's all contrast, one learns by consulting a very new and chic guidebook in Newcomb's Bootery where everything is ready for tomorrow's Easter fashion parade.

British tan, that alluring lighter-than-brown tone is seen in patent and kid. White buck, long or short vamps, single strap or frivolously comfortable oxford—whatever your need for an Easter go-to-meeting set of slippers, you may be sure to find something of interest at Newcomb's.

Copper, a richly deep tone, newest on the hosiery color list, is now being shown at the bootery, too.

Lorenz Has New French Colognes for Easter Gifts

Suggestive of bunny-rabbit and Easter chick cays, new spring-like packages of favorite French colognes are arriving this week at

Feature New Shoes for Children

Believing that it is quite as important to correctly fit a growing child's foot as that of an adult, Mrs. A. N. Peterson, proprietor of Peterson's shoe store, 215 West Fourth street, will show modish, correct-for-health styles for children in addition to her display of women's shoes, at the spring style show Thursday at Ebell club.

Luggage tan and russet, new buckskin colors in women's footgear, blunt-toed and square-heeled, are being emphasized for spring by Mrs. Peterson. With them she is showing stockings in "wildfire" and copper tones.

Under one owner longer than any shoe concern in Santa Ana, the Peterson shop is now in its twenty-fourth year of business.

Lorenz' Jewelry store as Easter gift suggestions.

Clips and buckles for men and women, brilliant new jewelry for all times of day, and sterling and plate silverware patterns more ornate than those of last season are to be seen in the Santa Ana shop.

Newest Spring Shoes Offered at the Mission

The Mission Bootery, Santa Ana's newest shoe store, located at 212 West Fourth street in the Spurgeon building, holds unusual interest for Thursday night's spring style show because of the fact that it shows an entirely new stock of shoes. The shelves of this store are not filled with leftovers and out-of-date styles; its stock of carefully selected shoes comes from the style centers of America, representing the latest word in smart styles and showing what is new and what smartly dressed people will be wearing this season.

This store features nationally advertised shoes. Among the surprises that await the public there Thursday night are the new Enna Jettick shoes for women, and the new Friendly Five shoes for men and Great Scott shoes for children. The Mission Bootery specializes in perfect fitting service of all shoes.

Making Your Own Easter Outfit? Hart's Have Tips

Snip, snip and stitch, stitch! With many a deft movement, milady may combine silks or perky dotted organdies from Hart's Dry Goods store and create her own heart's desire as to spring styles.

The entire window display at Hart's for the Easter fashion parade is devoted to the newest fabrics and suggested accessories to add color accents to them. Gay purses, colored gloves, bright scarves and small corsages give sparkling highlights.

Inside the store is a wide variety of sweaters in singles and twin sets. Linens for the Easter breakfast table, jewelry for the spring outfit, golden wreaths for the formal hairdress—fashion's playthings for all hours of the day may be seen and ordered at Hart's.

Adams Shop Shows Natty Sport Suits

Fluffy blouses and sporty sweaters which with a standard sports skirt provide a variety of swank spring outfits, may be seen at the Adams sportswear shop during the Easter fashion parade.

Slacks or suits in sleek sharkskin, if it's something sportlike you want, it's a safe guess you'll find it at the Adams shop.

Swagger Coats Will Be Much Shorter for This Spring!

Swagger coats will have a flare and an air for spring. The line will be boxy at the front, with flare at the back. Spectator sports coats have tan pleats for back fullness. Short ulsters with raglan sleeves are decidedly jaunty and very, very young looking. Some of these new short ulsters wear sailor collars as the final touch of youthfulness.

Many Colors

The color range is exceptionally varied and interesting. Both beige and gray are smart neutrals. Brighter colors include the new postman blue and bright navy. Navy is bluer than ever, not the dark shade that looks almost black. This brightening of the perennial, favorite Spring color will add gaiety to the general freshness of the new season. The browns have brightened, too, with a copper hint about them that simply can't look drab. Mixture tweeds are still very much in the running, as are practical selves. At least one of these reliable classics should be the backbone of every wardrobe. A nice selection of colorful scarfs, and your tweed coat becomes an impressive costume.

Capes are styled so cleverly that they just never look awkward, and are staging a real come-back this Spring. They give a flattering silhouette that doesn't envelope you in yards and yards of material and obliterate your trimness. The military trend plays up very nicely to the cape theme, and this in turn ties up with the new blues. Try on a cape or two, and be pleasantly surprised with the result.

Tailored Pique

Pique and Spring seem to be synonymous, and there just isn't anything fresher to add a Spring accent. Color is creeping more and more into the pique accent, but if you stick to white you'll still be on the smart side. White on navy always has been and always will be a thing of joy.

The bolero jacket is of increased importance this season, and is smartly wearable with skirts or dresses. It is an excellent separate jacket that has many useful possibilities, is versatile, and offers warmth without weight as that little extra something so often needed.

Engagement Rings Are Featured by Asher's Jewelry

After turning to thoughts of love, as the adage claims young men should in spring, the next thought is usually of engagement rings—to be found at Asher's Jewelry store, 210 West Fourth street.

Diamonds, lustrous and enduring, are featured at the shop, now in its 16th year of business at that location. New patterns in silverware and Bulova watch models in novel designs are specialties at Asher's.

When her car skidded into the ice of Dan river stream, Mrs. Essie Collins of Madison, N. C., swam to safety.

SPRING GREETED AT BELL'S

Silks, crepes and satins provide many a luscious frock and gown for milady, ready for the Easter fashion parade at Bell's Dry Goods store.

Throughout the store are seen signs of spring, in the jewelry, the gay little artificial corsages, the frilly organdie collars and blouse fronts, and the perfumes and colognes ready to be purchased.

New suits in light woollens or linens invite the feminine visitor to slip into them and be recreated, a vision of Easter chic.

Nor is summer forgotten. A table is fairly heaped high with bathing suits in the newest shades and the most comfortable cuts.

BARROWS WILL PROBATE ASKED

The will of the late Elizabeth J. Barrows, Palmdale, was presented for probate yesterday in superior court by Executrix Helen Drake Clark, a grandniece of Mrs. Barrows. The estate was estimated at $37,000 in cash and securities.

Benefactors included a niece, Mrs. Alberta Shepard, Yucaipa, granted $500; a niece, Mrs. Alice Games, Muscatine, Iowa, and two grandnieces, Miss Edith Games and Mrs. Sarah Henderson, also of Muscatine, $500 to be divided: $100 each to five grandnieces, Helen D. Clark, Eva L. Dimon, Grace Shepard, Mrs. Oral Shepard Johnson and Mrs. Elsie de la Fozor. Helen Drake Clark and Eva L. Diamond were given all the bank stock in the estate, an amount not specified. The remainder was set aside as a trust for Mrs. Shepard's niece and foster-daughter Mrs. Hattie L. Drake, and Mrs. Drake's daughter, Helen D. Drake.

BLUE AND GOLD

PARIS. (UP)—Sapphire blue and gold make a striking color combination for an evening costume which Mrs. Woolley Hart wears this winter. With a gown of sapphire blue velvet trimmed with rich embroideries over blue and gold lame, she wears a halo head-dress of gold lame.

The Air Grows Safer

WE CAN all remember when an airplane ride was a risky adventure. Today, giant air liners come and go on schedule, carrying passengers with the routine precision of the railroads.

The United States bureau of air commerce has just issued a report on last year's flying which shows how safe commercial flying really is.

Last year, the number of persons who traveled on America's airways was five times the number of citizens of Orange county, yet there were only two accidents which were fatal to passengers, during the last six months of the year.

Auto traffic accidents in the West, on almost any week end, cause as many deaths as did all American transport flying during that six months period—11 killed in the two crashes.

There has been young and virile blood in the aviation industry; men who have refused to be satisfied with things as they are, and who have constantly produced new and better equipment. Not only are finer planes being built; new safety devices for blind flying, better landing field facilities, improved radio beams are all adding to the safety factor in flying.

Aviation in America is definitely through its pioneering stages. The air grows safer, and as it does, air transport takes a more and more important part in our national development.

Relief, Two Aids

WITH the state and local relief situation becoming desperate as a result of withdrawal of federal support, taxpayers might well consider the advisability of themselves putting employable debt recipients to work.

The money, no matter how it may be raised, will come out of their pocket in the long run. It has been coming out of their pockets, even when dispensed from federal sources. Much of it has been spent in projects of no direct benefit to taxpayers.

Let every taxpayer take a sharp pencil and figure how much labor directly beneficial to his own business or his own interests he might employ with the money he has heretofore paid in taxes, or that he will, in all likelihood, be called upon to pay if the general relief bill continues at the level of the past few months.

Particularly let him consider whether personally taking a certain number of individuals off relief and putting them at useful work for his own benefit may not be a far better contribution to the maintenance of true Americanism than to continue, through his taxes, to support the present collectivist plan of handling the unemployment crisis. And let him consider if this could be done in a practical way.

Spring Moods—and Spring Modes

WHEN a woman feels in low spirits—she goes out and buys a new hat. "It makes her feel better," is the way she'd explain it.

But psychologically, her act is indicative what new clothes—new scenes—or a new setting will do for a person's morale. Properly and smartly attired—any man or woman feels confident.

There's something about the "right" clothes which boosts the spirit and adds zest to the routine of life. New furnishings can make the home seem a brighter and more interesting place in which to live. At the same time, new clothes do wonders in changing the future outlook from dull to gay and festive.

Maybe it's because it's spring—but somehow this seems like an unusually apt time for the Easter fashion parade at the Ebell clubhouse Thursday night and the special store displays in the shopping district. Now's the time to browse around and get a line on what's new and interesting for the home and the wardrobe.

David Lamson and Justice

GUILTY or not guilty? The world may never learn the truth about David Lamson. Press reports indicate that District Attorney Fred Thomas of San Jose may drop the charge of wife murder—discouraged by failure of a jury to reach a decision yesterday at the close of Lamson's third trial.

Whether or not he killed his wife, Lamson already has paid part of the penalty for the crime. Since May 30, 1933, when she was found beaten to death in a bathtub at their Stanford campus home, he has been in jail or in court.

If he is innocent, he has been bitterly wronged by the long-drawn out judicial proceedings. And if he is guilty, he now stands a good chance to escape full and just punishment. In all, the case has been badly handled—it is a blot on American justice.

Lots of the boys who burn up the road aren't so hot.

Still Some Freedom Here

SUPPOSE that President Roosevelt, having set himself up as a dictator, announced that congress henceforth would be abolished and that the federal government would proceed to take over and manage all private corporations.

That is almost an exact parallel to what is happening today in Italy. It is no wonder that the stock market has crashed and that Italian businessmen, accustomed as they are to being led around by the nose by Mussolini, are suffering a new attack of the jitters.

Be thankful that you live in the United States where there still remains a large degree of personal freedom from tyranny, political confiscation and abuse.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

The two gentlemen who express New York's most pronounced ubiquitousness are Jules Glanzer and Tippy Grey.

In almost any part of the world—the South seas, Singapore or the Arctic Circle—one is almost certain to see one or the other.

Glanzer is super-salesman for a jewelry house. An out of the bandbox fellow of meticulous shine. A thrower of magnificent parties who tip-toes about shushing noisy guests.

A first nighter and almost invariably the first person to greet an arriving bigwig from Hollywood or Europe.

Example of his omnipresence: I know a gentleman who will swear he saw Glanzer at the same moment in two different trains pulling out of Albuquerque in opposite directions. Tippy Grey might easily be termed man-about-the-globe. He bobs up in the most unexpected places.

A fellow of varied talents, Grey has written several musical reviews for the Police Bergette in Paris. He is an outstanding bob sledder at Saranac and has won trophies for skiing at St. Moritz. The last time I saw him he was moseying out of a neighborhood movie in the deep Bronx.

George White continues to display his almost childish zest for selling seats in the box office at his own show. He has been doing it for years and what was once thought a publicity dodo is now another of the theater's traditions. He rarely misses the evening or matinee rush. It's his way of relaxing. Whereas others play bridge or golf, he gives his customers the O. O.

I've often thought the country-jackiest of the small town names was the one in Indiana once known as Tailholt. James Whitcomb Riley immortalized it. He had an early sweetheart living there, whom he used to visit. One of his poems carried the line: "The little town of Tailholt was good enough for me." After this was published the 125 outraged citizens petitioned Washington for a change of name. This was done and, as I recall, is now Hamilton Station. Incidentally, Tailholt is in the adjoining county from Bennett's Crossing, where Richard Bennett, the actor and father of the famous Bennett girls, was born. Tom Geraghty's whistle stop in Indiana is called Rush.

Bert Williams, I am told, employed a seasonal color tone gradation with his supply of hats. In the spring he would appear with a pearl gray, in mid-summer a milk white, in autumn a brown leaf effect and for deep winter a chocolate brown. The hat was his favorite wearing apparel and his only extravagance. He had them especially made in Philadelphia of the finest material procurable. The reason: He always had to wear a throw away cap sporting a flour ad when a boy.

Then there is Bob Hague, the Standard Oil tanker tycoon who did so much to temper the wrath of the shorn Lambs during the depression. When a one-galussed boy, his combined hopes centered on owning a stem winding, silver case watch. Time after time by heroic saving he seemed on the verge of proud ownership. But something always happened. Little was in his early 20's before he finally made the grade. Result: Today he probably has, outside of Morgan collection, the finest assortment of watches from all over the world individually owned. A small fortune has gone into his hobby.

Dexter Fellows contends that youthful frustration harvests the older crop of circus fans. He, over a period of years, discovers that kids who had to slip under the tent or tote water to the elephant are the dyed-in-the-wool circus fans. I could as well say a boy always go to the circus. Today I care little for it. H. T. Webster and Clare Briggs had constant disappointments. Both became enthusiasts even to traveling with Ringlings a few weeks each year. And acting as clowns.

Nimble, the Boston pooch, is in the dog house today in the Hollywood manner. Since he got his talking to he has been crawling bellywise toward me in utter dejection, yowling low and plaintively. But I bestow the stern look that cringes editors and publishers. He may win me over—twice. I felt myself slipping—but he's going to learn that dragging the southwest section of a pair of speckled hot ziggedy pajamas into the hall and into the elevator filled with strange ladies is not cricket. No, sir, it's not playing the game.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The National Surety Co. of New York, one of the leading bonding companies of the country, has refused to bond the Townsend old age pension organization any longer. It has canceled its entire bond issue with the Townsends, including national, regional, state and local officers.

Next to the investigation recently voted by the house of representatives, this is the most severe blow the Townsend movement has had. Virtually all political parties and organizations are bonded against loss, in the same way that corporations bond their officials.

The contract between the Townsend organization and the National Surety Co. was signed in July, 1935, and on several occasions the company withdrew its coverage from certain individual Townsend officials, who, in turn, were dismissed by national headquarters.

Now, however, the entire contract has been canceled.

CARRY ON! No public explanation of this has been made either by Townsend officials or by the company. However, notice of the cancellation was sent by national headquarters to the "Legionnaires," a select order of Townsends, who pay $1 dues monthly, plus an initiation fee of one year's dues in advance.

The notice, entitled "Official Bulletin No. 77," bearing the caption "Can We Take It?" admits that the bonding company "is perfectly within its rights from a legal standpoint," but ascribes the move to general persecution of the Townsends.

"We believe," Bulletin No. 77 continues, "we can find a bonding company which believes that America is still the land of the brave," although it may have dropped the freedom. The battle is on. . . . Some weak members may drop from your clubs. . . . Stand fast. . . . The hope of millions, young and old, is in your hands, and to the strong will go the battle. O. K., fellow members, we can take it. Can you?"

Note—Active management of the Townsend organization, including its finances, is in the hands of R. E. Clements, one-time realtor and co-founder of the Townsend plan.

POETIC LICENSE When little, red-necktie-wearing Bilbo was elected to the senate, he promised the state of Mississippi he would "out-Huey Huey Long."

But only last week, after an 18 months' wait, did he make his first speech.

At once the senate chamber filled up. Word went around that the famed Bilbo was speaking. Members of the house came over to listen. Newsmen packed the press gallery.

But it was a flop. Bilbo spoke for four hours. People yawned, drifted off. Vice President Garner was among the first. He turned over the gavel to Senator Moore of New Jersey.

Said Holmes to Bilbo, "I'll send you to jail." Said Bilbo to Holmes, "I'll pull your tail." In sentencing Bilbos, let judges beware, They'll get to the senate and come in your hair."

And Bilbo kept on ranting.

MIGHTY JOE How tightly big, bellicose Joe Robinson holds the state of Arkansas in his grasp, as far as the New Deal is concerned, has been amply demonstrated of late.

Various high officials are increasingly worried about the condition of Arkansas tenant farmers, evicted from their homes, rapidly being organized—both white and black—into a bitter agricultural union.

These officials, including WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins and Resettlement Administrator Rex Tugwell, have decreed that the landless tenants should receive federal relief.

However, they have been unable to get their own subordinate in Arkansas to extend this relief. Written orders that the sharecroppers should receive aid were sent to WPA and RA agents in Arkansas. No result.

PERSONAL ORDERS

Floyd Sharp, WPA administrator for Arkansas, was called to Washington, given personal instructions by Aubrey Williams, assistant to Hopkins. T. Roy Reid, Arkansas regional director of resettlement, sat beside the President at a White House dinner, discussed the matter. Still no result.

Reason: These officials are appointed through Senator Robinson.

Possible contributing factor: Few sharecroppers can vote in Arkansas.

ROBINSON YIELDS

Finally, Congresswoman O'Day, close friend of the President, sent him a copy of a telegram from Arkansas reporting shooting and violence to be imminent.

The President called her on the telephone immediately.

"Caroline," he said, "I'm quite familiar with that situation. I've been giving it a lot of study. But we've got to work with Joe Robinson on it."

Professor Tugwell and W. W. Alexander, his assistant, went to see Robinson. At their earnest best, he sent a telegram to their subordinates in Arkansas asking them to carry out Tugwell's and Harry Hopkins' orders, extend relief to sharecroppers.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mrs. Cordell Hull and Mrs. Henry Wallace, wives of the secretaries of state and agriculture, were shocked at Bob Sherwood's smashing play, "Idiot's Delight," which satirizes war. Mrs. Wallace winced at the profanity, Mrs. Hull at allusions to the Diet.

State department has sub rosa reports of Russian troops concentrated on the Latvian border, ready, should war break, for a dash through Latvia to Germany. . . . Latest reports of public health service show a record-breaking number of cases of scarlet fever. There were 3777 new cases in one week alone, compared with the 1935 one-week record of 7961. . . . In the same week there were 10,000 new cases of measles. But a year ago there were 30,000. . . . (Copyright, 1936)

Huntington Beach and Santa Ana baseball teams will play at Hawley's park tomorrow afternoon. The game will give Santa Ana an opportunity to see three old favorites, the Mallet brothers, in action on the diamond. Some years back, Fred Mallet was one of the best pitchers in amateur baseball in Southern California. A $100 trophy is at stake on a series of three games. Santa Ana has already won one game.

The Santa Ana High school broke even with the Occidental academy in the two contests held here yesterday afternoon and evening. Occidental winning the track meet, and Santa Ana the debate. The contests in the track meet were spirited. Santa Ana won five firsts and tied for one more. The score for the afternoon was 72 for the visitors and 48 for the home school.

Miss Anna McFadden, who is home from Cunnock for over Sunday, had as her dinner guests last evening Miss Ruth Smith and Culbert Peries of Los Angeles, and Lamont McFadden of this city. The table decorations were violet, prettily arranged. After dinner, the young people attended the high school debate.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Davis entertained charmingly at lunch yesterday evening in honor of their guests, Miss Maude Edwards of Minneapolis. Those who enjoyed the evening were Messrs. and Mesdames J. W. Bishop, J. I. Clark, H. C. Dawes, C. S. Crookshank, L. J. Carlen, L. P. Higgins, E. B. Burnes, W. D. Doreling, C. E. French, W. E. Winslow, E. B. Sprague, Isabelle Churchill and A. J. Perkins.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Ousted Potato Stamps Bring Profit to U. S.

THRIFT is a fine old fashioned virtue none too common these hectic days. When ancient values shrink under ridicule it is refreshing to note when one of the stalwart breed dares to show its head. Even in its deluge of spending, the federal government is not adverse to turning a thrifty dollar now and then. A trickle of money will soon rattle against the empty bottom of the federal strongbox.

Some weeks ago the potato tax hovered like a ghost over the family dinner table. The poor little tuber had been hunted and caught by the relentless taxers. Before the scripping housewife dared to spread the toothsome spud before her hungry brood she must needs appease the ravenous appetite of the shkel snatchers. She must buy tax stamps before she could buy potatoes. Our revolutionary fathers were moved to stern resistance when much less oppressive stamps were spread before their liberty-loving eyes.

Just when the dead-line was due and the national potato belt was tightened certain rumblings from the supreme court cleared the atmosphere. Under presidential spurring, the act was repealed.

What Other Editors Say

THE JUICE PROBLEM

(Redlands Daily Facts) The growing importance of canned fruit juice as a competitor in the market with fresh fruit must soon be faced by the citrus industry as a major problem. Orange county growers are much concerned because canners are actively operating in that portion of the citrus belt. At a recent meeting of Foothill farm Center, at Olive, reportedly the largest in the state, the speaker of the evening, A. E. Isham, manager of the field department of M. O. D., was forced to give his views on this subject, although he had been assigned another phase of the citrus industry for discussion.

At present there is no control on output of canned citrus juice. Florida canned grapefruit and hearts are being sold by the thousands of cases in California. The canned product will soon be extended to include orange juice in such quantities that the housewife may be weaned entirely away from use of fresh citrus fruits because of the convenience of the canned variety.

Good profits are seemingly possible to canners. Canned Florida grapefruit is being sold here at a price that represents no income for the grower—unless he is in the tin business. The canner uses the surplus standards at a salvage price; but when he sells, it is on the high, recovered market, in competition with high price fresh fruit.

Something must be done to safeguard the fresh fruit industry, growers who have studied the question generally agree. If the competition gets serious enough, canning the major portion of the crop may be attempted in the not distant future. The person who devises an adequate and workable formula for regulation of this competition will have made a real step in California citrus history.

JUST AS WE EXPECTED

(San Diego Sun)

Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb has ruled that the border patrol maintained by Los Angeles police is illegal. Of course it is nobody doubted that. Not even Chief of Police Davis of Los Angeles.

The chief has indicated he will ignore the ruling. That, also, is what we expected. If an official is so lacking in consideration for human rights as to violate the Constitution of the United States why should he stop because of an adverse ruling by a mere attorney general?

It would not be surprising if some one went to court about it and got an injunction. The chief might defy that, too. Again he might not. But if he did he might acquire a close-up view of some of the men he is so bent on keeping out—men whose only "offense" is they have no jobs and are, therefore, "vagrants." He could do that by going to jail.

Remarkable Remarks

How can anyone claim to have attained the full stature of a true American if he still harbors religious prejudices?—Secretary of War George H. Dern.

"Spring has come," but my thoughts have not turned lightly to love. It's my stomach that's bothering me.

"Blondie" Meister gets me my shamrock seven days after St. Patrick's day, but he made amends by giving me four of them. This turns out to be a case of good intentions. When I called "Blondie" had gone home for more shamrocks, and now that he has delivered the goods I just got to believe him.

Spring is one of the four seasons. So far this year I've been confused as to which one is spring.

I knew when the government cut down the size of the dollar bill that it was for the purpose of making it cheaper, but it seems that at the same time they made it scarcer.

Inasmuch as the government has been taking care of so much of the relief work there is danger that the people will be inclined to let it take care of work properly belonging to the Red Cross. To me it does not seem like there is either the concern or responsibility toward the eastern flood sufferers that the victims should receive.

The national broadcasting appeals indicate that help extended is not at all adequate to cope with the situation. Perhaps there is a satisfactory local response. The damage is so extensive that it will take a large sum to rehabilitate the victims. It takes a long time to accumulate property, but only a short time to lose it. If you haven't contributed to the local Red Cross, do not delay any longer. Your small sum will be a big help.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

I've enough friends on the sick list to start a hospital. If I do not meet them someone sends me word. Their troubles run all the way from spring fever to major operations, with the flu predominating. Unofficial diagnosis includes lack of sunshine, desert wind, no rain, too much taxes, over-political indulgence. Gee, I run into some of the queerest reasons for sickness. I got a bad stomach and know what's the matter. After the first 50 years have passed you quit looking for an alibi.

When it rains and you are down town the umbrella is home, and when you are home and it rains the umbrella is at the office or the store. You don't believe me?

One of the telephone boys working on top of the building at Fifth and Bush was trying to reach out so he could fasten a chain to a hoist, and coming about not being able to get out far enough to make the connection. Say, when I saw him it looked to me like he had already reached out too far. This sky-larking on buildings is a job I'm not suited for. The incident reminded me of the two skyscraper workmen who had fallen from the nineteenth floor. When they passed the eleventh floor one of two other workmen who had witnessed the fall remarked that Pat was still ahead, and the other insisted that he had a right to be, as he started first.

I have just finished reading a poem on "The First Snow" by Francis Frost, presumably a near relative.

March 26. Registration deadline. You want to vote this fall, don't you? Well, get the old sig on the registration book and you can march right into the booth and vote like a good American citizen should. A citizen who fails to vote should record no objection to the kind of government he gets. He is only qualified to "kick" if he voted.

It's all right with me when the curbs are running full of water if the automobile driver wants to wait until I cross the intersection. I've never been used to bathing in public.

Easter is the next occasion for our consideration of commemoration and worship. There is, however, much of a tendency to center our thought upon merchandise instead of the cross. I don't care if you look well—hope you do—but if your sartorial appearance is purely for vanity, you are on the wrong highway. The sacrifice on Calvary calls for a pause on the hurry through life. It's worthy of your meditation. With the world in its present chaos there is no place to go for a solution of our perplexing problems except to the Source of peace on earth, good will to men.

It will take more than a shower to save ranchers an irrigation, unless the showers combine and decide to favor Orange county on a single visit. About this time of year the rancher begins to get apprehensive. Then along comes some hopeful and optimistic soul who tells him that he has known of copious downpours in April. Which helps one's feelings, but does not save an irrigation.

"Spring has come," but my thoughts have not turned lightly to love. It's my stomach that's bothering me.
